Lineage of Lesley, Earls of Leven.

This family is a branch of the very ancient and historic house of Lesly or Leslie, Earls of Rothes.

WILLIAM LESLEY, who flourished in the reign of King JAMES II. and III., got charters under the Great Seal of the lands and barony of Balquhain, &c., and left (with several other sons), ALEXANDER, who succeeded him, and carried on the line of the family of Balquhain, and WILLIAM, from whom was lineally descended,

ALEXANDER LESLEY of Kininvie, who left issue two sons, ALEXANDER, who succeeded him in the lands of Kininvie, and

GEORGE LESLY of Drummuir, who m. Mary, dau. of Stewart of Kilcowie, by whom he had a son,

GEORGE LESLY, a brave soldier, who had the command of the garrison in the castle of Blair in the reign of King JAMES VI.; he m. Anne, dau. of Stewart of Ballechin, by whom he had a son.

SIR ALEXANDER LESLEY, one of the most noted soldiers of his time, remarkable for his coolness and courage, and his great knowledge in the military art. Lesley first acted as a volunteer in Lord Vere's regiment in Holland, where he soon rose to the degree of a captain. He then went to Sweden, and entered into the service of GUSTAVUS ADOLPHUS, and behaved so gallantly, that that warlike monarch raised him to the rank of a lieutenant-general, and then to that of field-marshal of his armies. In 1628, when the town of Stralsund was besieged by a victorious army, under the command of Count Walsten, and reduced almost to the last extremity, the King of Sweden sent General Lesly to take upon him the command of the garrison, and he there acted with such singular resolution and conduct, that he obliged the Count to raise the siege. The burghers were so sensible of the great service Lesly had done them, that they struck several medals in his honour, some of which have been preserved in the family. In 1630, Lesly drove the Imperialists entirely out of Rugen, and continued in the Swedish service with high distinction until the troubles in Scotland brought him home. He was in 1638, invited by the Covenanters to take upon him the command of their army, which he accepted, and was made governor of the castle of Edinburgh in March, 1639. In 1640 he invaded England at the head of the Scotch army, and defeated a party of the king's troops under the command of Lord Conway, at Newburn, and took possession of Newcastle. At the treaty with the king at Ripon, General Lesley was one of the parliament's commissioners, and the king was so well pleased with the general's behaviour, that he created him LORD BALGONY, and EARL OF LEVEN, by patent dated 11 Oct. 1641, with remainder to the heirs male of his body. After going in 1642 to Ireland to suppress the insurrection there, Lesly, Earl of Leven, had again in 1643 the command of the Scotch army that was sent to the assistance of the parliament's forces against the king; and the victory at Marston Moor in 1644 was chiefly ascribed to him. He was appointed in 1647 lord-general of Scotland. Notwithstanding his support of the parliamentarians, Lesly showed himself afterwards more loyal than otherwise, owing disapproval of the king's murder. After that event appeared more forward than the Earl of Leven in rais army, and restoring King CHARLES II. He served volunteer against OLIVER CROMWELL at the battle of D and heartily joined and concurred with the royalists in measure for the restoration; but when he, with others royal party had a meeting in Angus, to concert matte their future conduct, General Monk, who then besieged D having got intelligence of their meeting, sent a strong in the night, surprised and took them prisoners at Al Angus, and transferred the veteran Earl of Leven, with others, prisoners to London, where they were confined Tower. The earl remained incarcerated there, and s sequestration and many other hardships, till by the me of the Queen of SWEDEN he obtained his liberty, and sensible of the service her majesty had done him, that h over to Sweden in person to make his acknowledgmen was there received and entertained with great resp honour of his former services. He at last returned to h country, retired to his seat, Balgony, in Fife, and d. ther very advanced age in 1662. The Earl m. Agnes, d Renton of Billy, by whom he had two sons and five daus.

Lineage.

Sir William Lindsay, youngest son of Sir David, Lord of Crawford (see that title), obtained the barony of the Byres by charter, 1365-6, on the resignation of his brother, Sir Alexander, of Glenesk, ancestor of the present Earl of Crawford. He was a celebrated knight—one of the 'Enfants de Lindsay' commemorated by Froissart, and knighted the son of St. Bridget of Sweden at the Holy Sepulchre. By his wife, Christiana, dau. of Sir William Mure, of Abercorn, with whom he obtained that barony, he left two sons, Sir William, and Andrew, of Garmylton, ancestor of Sir David Lindsay of the Mount, the poet, reformer, and Lyon King-at-Arms, temp. James V.

Sir William Lindsay, the second, of the Byres, m. Christiana, dau. of Sir William Keith, Marischal of Scotland, with whom he got the barony and castle of Dunnottar, co. Kincardine, which he afterwards exchanged with the Keiths for that of Struthers (now styled Crawford Priory), co. Fife, reserving (it is stated) the privilege that the eldest son and heir of the family should be sheltered in the castle during infancy in time of intestine warfare, the castle being esteemed impregnable. Sir William had issue,

Sir John, who was created a Lord of Parliament, by the title of Lord Lindsay of the Byres, in 1445; was justiciary of Scotland North of the Forth in 1457; and, marrying a dau. of Robert Stewart, Lord Lorn, left issue, beside other sons and daus., David, 2nd Lord Lindsay of the Byres, the veteran who presented the "great gray horse" (noted in history) to James III. before the battle of Sauchieburn in 1488, when he brought to his standard a thousand horse and three thousand foot, the strength of Fife, but who d. without issue, 1492, and was s. by his brother, John, 3rd Lord Lindsay of the Byres, surnamed 'John out-with-the-sword,' and he again, dying in 1497 without male issue, was s. by his younger brother, Patrick, who carried on the line of the family.

Patrick, 4th Lord, who had been a celebrated 'forspekar' or advocate in his youth, and whose successful defence of his brother after Sauchieburn, and wise advice and quaint parable before the battle of Flodden, are recorded by Pitscottie, had a grant of the Sheriffdom of Fife to himself, his son, and grandson; and, dying in 1526, left issue, by his wife, Jean, dau. of Pitcairn, of that ilk, LINGEN.

LINGEN, BARON (Sir Ralph-Robert-Wheeler Lingen, K.C.B., D.C.L.), of Lingen, co. Hereford, b. 19 February, 1819; m. 1852, Emma, 2nd dau. of Robert Hutton, Esq. of Putney Park, Surrey, at one time M.P. for Dublin. This nobleman, who graduated at Trin. Coll., and became a Fellow of Balliol Coll., Oxford, was called to the Bar in 1847. He was Secretary to the Committee of the Privy Council on Education 1850 to 1869, and Permanent Secretary to the Treasury 1870 to 1885, when he was elevated to the Peerage.

Lineage.

The family of Lingen was at a very early period seated at a small village of that name, about two miles from Wigmore, in Herefordshire, the seat of the Mortimers, whose later history identifies them with the house of York,

The Rev. R. W. Eyton, in his Antiquities of Shropshire (vol. v., pp. 73-8; xi., pp. 332-4) gives numerous instances proving the connexion of the family of Lingen with the place so named and its neighbourhood throughout the 12th 13th, and 14th centuries.

RALPH DE LINGEN, to whom the foundation of Lymbroks Nunnery, in Herefordshire, dissolved in 1539, is attributed, was s. by a son (soon after 1189), grandson, and great-grandson, all named John de Lingen. The second John de Lingen had a grant of Free Warren 1256; the third was knighted at a great solemnity in 1305 before accompanying King EDWARD I. on his last expedition to Scotland. His son, SIR RALPH DE LINGEN sat as member for the co. of Hereford, anno 47 EDWARD III. (1373), and 5 RICHARD II. (1381). (See Return of Members of Parliament, House of Commons, Paper 69, Session 1878.) Lineage.

Stephen Locard witnessed a charter of Richard de Moreville before 1154. Malcolm Locard possessed lands in Ayrshire, 1164, and was father of Symon, who acquired Symondstoun or Symington, co. Lanark. The first Locard, styled of Lee, was,

Sir Simon Locard, circa 1315-30. He has been said to have accompanied Sir James Douglas on his expedition with the heart of Bruce, and brought home the Scottish forces with the heart of his royal master. The family possess a famous relic of antiquity called The Lee Penny, upon which is founded Sir Walter Scott's romance of The Talisman. Tradition has it that Simon Locard, during his stay in the Holy Land, took prisoner a Saracen chief, whose wife came to ransom him, and on the counting out of the money or jewels, this (which is a stone or composition of a dark red colour and triangular shape, set on a silver coin) fell; she hastily snatched it up, which Simon observing, insisted upon having it, and procured it before giving up his prisoner. More of this singular relic, and its alleged properties and virtues, may be found in Sir Walter Scott's preface to The Talisman.

Passing to the 16th century,

Sir James Lockhart, knighted by James VI. He was m. three times. By his 1st wife, Jean, dau. of Sir Robert Drummond of Carnock, he had one dau.; by his 2nd wife, Isabel, dau. of James Weir of Stonebyres, he had a son, James (Sir), his heir, of whom hereafter; by his 3rd wife, Jean, dau. of Sir George Auchinleck of Balmanno, he had (with other issue) William, to whom he gave the estates of Carstairs (see Ross, Bart.). Sir James was s. by his eldest son,

Sir James Lockhart, b. in 1596, a lord of the court of Session in Scotland, and afterwards lord-justice-clerk, as Lord Lee, in the time of Charles I. He m. twice: by his 1st wife, Elizabeth Fairly, he had no issue; by his 2nd, Martha, dau. of Sir George Douglas, of Mordington (brother of James, Lord Torthorwald), and maid-of-honour to Charles I.'s queen, he had, with two daus., four sons, namely, I. William (Sir); II. George (Sir), of whom hereafter; III. John (Sir), of Castlehill, appointed by Charles II. one of the senators of the College of Justice, and a Lord of Justiciary; and IV. Robert, killed in the civil wars. Sir James was s. at his decease by his eldest son, Sir William Lockhart, b. in 1621, an eminent statesman, and one of the greatest politicians of his age, well known as Ambassador Lockhart, having been many years accredited to the court of France. He afterwards s. his father as lord-justice-clerk. Lineage.

The name of Kerr is found in Scotland at the end of the 12th century. The prominent border families of Cessford and Fernihirst, of the latter of which the Marquess of Lothian is representative, can be traced to a common ancestry.

JOHN KERR, of the Forest of Selkirk, had in 1357, a charter of part of Auldtounburn, and in 1358, another to himself and Mariot, his wife, of another part of the same lands, and of Mowe. He was father of

HENRY KERR, Sheriff of Roxburgh in 1359, who seems to have m. an heiress of the family of St. Michael or Michelson. His son, ROBERT KERR, of Auldtounburn, who had a charter Smelholme, in 1404, from Archibald, 4th Earl of Dou had two sons, Richard, who d. s. p. before 1428, Andrew. The younger son,

ANDREW KERR, of Auldtounburn, had various char from the Earls of Douglas, 1430-48, of lands in Roxbu shire, including one of Cessford, afterwards the title of family. Two of his younger sons, James, of Linton, Thomas, of Gateshaw, were progenitors of separate bran of the Kerr family. He was s. in 1449 or 1450 by his eldest ANDREW KERR, of Auldtounburn, in whose time the of the Douglases, by which the Kerrs became crown vass greatly increased their influence. LOVAT.

LOVAT, BARON (Simon-Joseph Fraser), of Lovat, co. Inverness, in the United Kingdom, and Baron Lovat, in Scotland, formerly lieut. 1st Life Guards; D.L. co. Inverness; b. 25 Nov. 1871, s. his father in 1887 as 16th baron.

Lineage.

The family of Fraser (formerly Frisel) are of Norman descent. From East Lothian, their earliest resting place in Scotland, they diverged into Tweeddale in the 12th and 13th centuries, and subsequently into the shires of Inverness and Aberdeen. A line of Frasers owned Oliver Castle, co Peebles, in the 13th and beginning of the 14th century, the last of whom, Sir Simon, executed by order of EDWARD I. in 1306, left two daus., co-heiresses, m. to Hay, of Locherwort, and Fleming, of Wigton. The male succession was continued by the posterity of John Fraser, a younger brother of the family in the end of the 13th century, who was great-grandfather of Sir Simon Fraser, killed at Halidonhill, 1333 (whose brother was Sir Alexander Fraser, chamberlain of Scotland, and husband of Mary, sister of King ROBERT BRUCE).

HUGH FRASER, probably grandson of this Sir Simon, was Lord of Lovat and portioner (with Sir William Fenton) of Ard; held other lands from the Bishops of Moray, and owned Kinnell, in Forfarshire. His grandson,

HUGH FRASER, of Lovat, m. 1416, Janet, dau. of William Fentoun, of Beaufort, co. Inverness, and Baky, co. Forfar, was sheriff of Inverness, and d. before 1440. He was father of

THOMAS FRASER, of Lovat, who d. circa 1456, leaving a son in minority, HUGH FRASER, of Lovat, who was made a lord of Parliament as Lord Lovat (or Lord Fraser, of Lovat), between 1458 and 1464. He m. Violetta, dau. of Lord Glammis, and had (along with younger sons, Hugh, who fell at Flodden, and Alexander, ancestor of the Frasers, of Farraline and Leadclune, and a dau. II. Godfrey-Evan-Hugh, b. 5 March, 1879.

III. Archibald-Ronald-Armadale, b. 20 May, 1880.

IV. Ronald-Ian, b. 1 Oct. 1884.

I. Iona-Mary-Adelaide-Hope, b. 1 Dec. 1886.

Lineage.

SOMERLED, a Celtic chief by whose efforts the Norwegians had been driven from the mainland of Scotland, established himself in the 12th century as Lord of Ergadia, or Argyle, i.e., the whole district between the Clyde and Lochbroom ; and after wresting also a large portion of his insular dominions from the King of Man, styled himself King of the Isles. He d. or was assassinated in 1164, leaving by his wife, Effrica, dau. of Olave, King of Man, three sons, among whom his possessions were parted ; Dugald, ancestor of the Macdougals of Lorn ; Reginald ; and Angus.

REGINALD, the 2nd son, obtained Kintyre, Cowal, Isla, Bute, and Arran, and was designed King of the Isles, or of Man. There was a further partition between Reginald's two sons, DONALD, who s. his father in Kintyre ; and Roderick, who had Bute and Arran, and also got Garmoran, wrested from the sons of his uncle Angus, slain by him and his brother in 1210.

ANGUS OG, grandson of Reginald's son, Donald, and son of Angus Mor, took Bruce's side in the War of Succession, and accordingly ROBERT II., when settled on the throne, bestowed on him Morvern, Ardnamurchan, and Lochaber, forfeited by the Macdougals, who had sided with Baliol.

JOHN, Lord of the Isles, son of Angus Og, m. 1st, his cousin, Amie Macruarie, heiress of Roderick's line (dispensation dated 1337), by whom he got Garmoran ; and had three sons, John, Godfrey, and Ranald, ancestor of the families of Glengarry and Clanranald. Having apparently repudiated this wife, he m. 2ndly (dispensation dated 1350), Margaret, dau. of Robert, 7th high steward, afterwards King ROBERT II., by whom he also had three sons, Donald ; John (ancestor of the Earls of Antrim), and Alexander (à quo the Macdonalds of Keppoch). While the Macruarie possessions were secured to the first family, the heir of the second marriage, being the king's grandson, was preferred to the succession of the Isles.

DONALD, the eldest son of the second marriage, who thus became on his father' death in 1380 Lord of the Isles, m. Margaret, dau. of Euphemia, Countess of Ross in her own right, and sister of Alexander Lesly, Earl of Ross. Alexander, Earl of Ross having d. circa 1406 and his only child being a nun, the Lord of the Isles proceeded, in right of his wife, the heir presumptive, to seize on the earldom, on the plea that the Countess Euphemia, as a religieuse, was dead in law; and the opposition of the Regent Albany led in 1411 to the battle of Harlaw. In 1415 the Regent, obtaining a renunciation of the earldom from the nun-countess, reconveyed it to his 2nd son, John, Earl of Buchan. Donald of the Isles d. 1420. His son, ALEXANDER, Lord of the Isles, was recognised as Earl of Ross (even in his mother's lifetime) by JAMES I. Rebelling against JAMES, he was defeated in 1429, and reduced to sue in abject fashion before the king at Holyrood, who imprisoned him in Tantallon Castle, and his mother in Inchcolm. He was justiciary north of Firth in the minority of JAMES II., and became a party to the treasonable league between the Earls of Douglas and Crawford which (22 Feb. 1451-2) cost the former earl his life. He d. May, 1449, leaving by his wife, Elizabeth Seton, sister of Alexander, 1st Earl of Huntly, a son, John, his successor.* He had also two older sons, illegitimate or the offspring of handfast marriages; Celestine, of Lochalsh, whose grandson, Sir Donald Galda, the last of his line, set up a claim to the lordship of the Isles in 1513; and HUGH, of Sleat, ancestor of Lord Macdonald, through whose mother, dau. of the last lay abbot of Applecross, the Earl of Ross acquired Lochalsh and Lochcarron.

HUGH, son of Alexander, Lord of the Isles, had a charter from his brother John, confirmed under the great seal, 10 Nov. 1495, conveying Sleat, in Skye, and other lands to him and his issue male, legitimate or illegitimate, by Finvola, of Ardnamurchan, whom failing, to his issue male by any other lady approved by the council of his relations. He d. 1498, having had by his wife, Finvola, dau. of Mclan of Ardnamurchan, John, his successor; and by Mary, dau. of the chief of the clan Gunn, a son, Donald. His son and successor,

JOHN HUCHONSON, having d. s. p. 1502, was s. by his half brother,

DONALD GALLOCH, who was killed in 1506 by an illegitimate brother, Archibald, having by his wife, a dau. of John of Islay and The Glinns, had a son,

DONALD GRUMACH, who d. circa 1534, having m. Margaret, dau. of Macdonald of Moydert, with issue, Donald, his heir; and James, à quo the Macdonalds of Kingsburg. The elder son,

DONALD GORM, laid claim to the lordship of the Isles, and having in support of his pretension besieged the castle of Islandonane, was shot dead from the battlements in 1539. He m. Margaret, dau. of John-Torquil Macleod, of the family of Lewis, and had,

DONALD GORMESON, who s. in infancy, and d. 1573, having by Mary, his wife, dau. of Hector Maclean, of Dowart, had issue,

I. DONALD GORM MOR, who m. 1st, Margaret, dau. of Tormoc Macleod, of Harris; 2ndly, Mary, sister of Kenneth, 1st Lord Mackenzie, of Kintail, but d. s. p. Dec. 1616.
II. Archibald, the Clerk, who m. Margaret, dau. of Angus Macdonald, of Isla and The Glinns, and had,

DONALD, who s. his uncle in Sleat, and was created a baronet, as below.

I. DONALD MAC DONALD, of Slate, was created by CHARLES I. a Baronet of Nova Scotia, 14 July, 1625, with a special clause of precedency, placing him second of that order in the kingdom of Scotland. MACDUFF, VISCOUNT, see FIFE, DUKE OF.

MACGREGOR.

MACGREGOR, SIR MALCOLM, Bart., of MacGregor, co. Perth, lieut. R.N., b. 3 Aug. 1873.

Lineage.

The clan Gregor or MacGregor is said to have sprung from Gregor, or Gregorius, 3rd son of ALPIN, one of the Scottish kings of the eighth century. From this descent of their founder, the sept derived their original name of MacAlpine, and they still occasionally receive the appellation of The clan Alpine. From a very ancient period, they appear to have possessed a wide tract of land on the boundary lines of Argyle and Perthshires, around Loch Katrine and the northern end of Loch Lomond. Up to the very close of the eighteenth century, the MacGregors were legally a nameless clan, in as far as the penal acts against them still held a place in the statute-book, though, practically, the law recognised the name, and none of the penal statutes were ever enforced. The British parliament finally abolished all these traces of ancient barbarity. As soon as this boon was conferred on them, the MacGregors showed remaining tokens of a strong feeling of clanship, by acknowledging a head and chief. Eight hundred and twenty-six persons, of the name of MacGregor, subscribed a deed, admitting John Murray, Esq. of Lanrick, afterwards Sir John MacGregor, Bart., as lawfully descended of the house of Glenstrae, and the proper and true chief of Clan Alpine.

PATRICK MAC GREGOR joined Montrose in support of the royal cause, in 1644, with a thousand fighting men of his own clan, and was held in the highest estimation by his illustrious commander. He m. Marian, dau. of Mac Donald of Auchatrichatan, by whom he had three sons,

COLQUHOUN M'GRIGOR, Esq., born in Aberdeen, m. Ann, dau. of Lewis Grant, Esq. of Lathendry, and left issue, at his decease, in 1800, three sons,

JAMES, created a Baronet.
Robert, merchant of Aberdeen; d. in 1803.
Charles, lieut.-col. in the army; d. in 1841.

JAMES MCGRIGOR, the eldest son, b. 9 April, 1771, entered the medical department of the army in 1793, as surgeon of the 88th or Connaught rangers, and served the Holland and Flanders campaigns of the two following years. In 1796, he was chief of the medical staff in the expedition against the island of Grenada. In 1798, he proceeded to India; and in 1800, we find him placed at the head of the medical staff of the Anglo-Indian army in Egypt, first under the command of Sir Arthur Wellesley, and subsequently in the expedition under Sir David Baird from Bombay, through the deserts of Thebes and Suez to Alexandria. After his return from India, he was appointed chief of the medical department on the expedition to Walcheren; and his services upon that unfortunate occasion are honourably noticed in many of the official despatches. He was also chief of the medical department of the army under the Duke of Wellington in the Peninsular war; and won the approbation of his great commander, being frequently and favourably mentioned in his grace's despatches, particularly in those detailing the surrender of Badajoz and the victory of Vittoria. On the 26th July, 1814, the duke wrote thus of Mr. M'Grigor: "I consider him one of the most able, industrious, and successful public servants I have ever met with." For all these eminent services, Mr. M'Grigor, at the conclusion of the war, was knighted, and obtained permission to wear the decorations of the Portuguese order of a knight-commander of the Tower and Sword, conferred upon him by the King of Portugal, and the Turkish order of the Crescent. In 1815, he was placed at the head of the medical department of the army, which office he continued to hold for 36 years; he was created a Baronet 30 Sept. 1831, and a K.C.B. in 1851. He m. 23 June, 1810, Mary, youngest dau. of Duncan Grant, Esq. of Lingeistone, co. Moray, and by her (who d. 1 April, 1872) had issue,

Lineage.

The genealogy contained in the manuscript discover Skene in the collection of the Faculty of Advocates confirm ancient origin of this family, and puts it beyond doubt tha were one of the three clans descended from the old Mac of Moray, sovereigns of the Pictish race, which fro earliest time occupied the district of Moray.

In the 12th century a large grant of lands in Strath Ta made to the Macnaghtens, who were styled Thanes of Tay. In 1510, Sir Alexander Macnaghtane fol James IV. to the fatal field of Flodden. He was there with his sovereign and the flower of the Scottish no The son and heir of this Sir Alexander married daughter of Murdoch Maclean, Laird of Lough Buy, in by his wife, the sister of Randal MacSorley, 1st Earl of Ar and daughter of Sorley Buy who was in the habit of m predatory incursions into the north of Ireland. B he had three sons. The eldest died without issue. Fro second, Malcolm, called Gleashian, proceeded the Scottish but this, from devoted attachment to the Stuarts fell into d and became ultimately lost. Alexander, son of John Naghten of that ilk, was a captain in the guards temp. Anne, and fell at Vigo, 1702. His brother John, Insp General of Customs in Scotland, succeeded to the chie ship, but d. s. p. The third son, designated "Shane or Black John, went to Ireland as secretary to his g uncle, Randal MacSorley MacDonnell, 1st Earl of Antrim settled in the county of Antrim in 1580. The last pl residence the Macnaughtens had in Scotland was Dunda a castle on Loch Fine, in Argyleshire, Daniel Macnaug son and heir of "Shane Dhu," married Catherine, nie the Primate George Dowdall, and his son, John of warden, in the county of Antrim, married Helen, dau of Francis Stafford, of Portglenone. Edmund, their son born on the 10th of August, 1679, and when about ten ye age was taken by his mother, then a widow, to the ci Londonderry, where he remained with his uncle, the Hon. Edward Francis Stafford, during the whole of memorable siege. In the meantime the Scottish branch family adhered zealously to the house of Stuart. On the of July, 1689, John Macnaghtan, with a large body of his joined Graham of Claverhouse, the gallant Dundee, and tributed much to the success gained over William's arm Killicrankie. MAGHERAMORNE.

MAGHERAMORNE, BARON (Sir James-Douglas McGarel-Hogg), of Magheramorne, in the co. Antrim, and a Bart., late lieut. Derbyshire yeo. cav., formerly capt. 1st Life Guards, A.D.C. to the Earl of Aberdeen, when Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland, b. 16 Jan. 1861; s. his father in 1890 as 2nd baron; m. 23 Oct. 1889, Lady Evelyn-Harriet Ashley, 2nd dau. of Anthony, 8th Earl of Shaftesbury, and has issue, Norah-Evelyn, b. 1 Sept. 1890.

Lineage.

Magheramorne is as its name implies, the place of settlement of one of the most famous of the ancient Irish tribes—the Mornes. It is the name of a tuogh, i.e., the possessions of a family or tribe, and the original area of the district was at one time much larger than that now embraced under the name. It is situated on the borders of Lough Larne, which was one of the landing places for the Viking settlers in Ireland. The name was known in the 6th century, for in A.D. 511 the famous Irish saint St. Comgall was born, according to all his biographers, at Magheramorne. In the 13th century a fresh immigration of Mornes into the district of Magheramorne took place, in consequence of a portion of the tribe having quarrelled with its chief. The estate has belonged to various families of distinction, and in 1842 came into possession of the late Charles McGarel, Esq., after whose death, in 1876, it passed into the hands of the late Sir James McGarel-Hogg, who, upon being elevated to the peerage, took his title from his Irish estate.

Lineage.

This family claims to be the representative or chief of the clan Challum, or M'Callums, settled, according to the traditions of the country, from a very early period in co.

Argyll, and originally styled the clan Challum of Ariskeodnish, in which lordship most of their estates are still situated.

In the year 1414, Sir Duncan Campbell, Knt. of Lochow, granted to Reginald Malcolm, Laird of Corbarran, certain lands in Craignish and on the banks of Loch Avich, with the office of Hereditary Constable of his castles of Lochaffy and Craignish. He d. 1446, and was s. by his son, JOHN, who was confirmed in his father's lands and offices, as is evident from a precept bearing date 1 Dec. 1448. This family, which seems soon after to have declined, appears to have been a branch of that of Poltalloch, from the circumstance that the farm of Corbarran, or Corran, then the only remaining portion of their possessions is said to have been bequeathed by the last of this race to Zachary, the then proprietor of Poltalloch, as his chief or representative of the elder branch of his house.

DONALD M'GILLESPIE VIC O'CHALLUM, or Donald, son of Archibald, son of Malcolm, was seised of the lands of Poltalloch 1562, as appears from a charter bearing date 18 May in that year. He was lineal ancestor of NEILL MALCOLM, Esq. (son of John M'Callum, by Margaret, his wife, dau. of Alexander Campbell, Esq. of the Lochnell family), who s. his cousin, Dugald Malcolm, of Poltalloch, in 1785. Lineage.

The surname of the Montagus was anciently written in Latin De Monte Acuto, and in English, Montacute, and their first ancestor in England was

DROGO DE MONTE ACUTO, a warrior in the immediate train of Robert, Earl of Moreton, at the Conquest. From this personage descended the various families of MONTACUTE and

* Had a patent of precedence as sons and daus. of an earl, 19 March, 1890.

MONTAGU. Sir William Dugdale in his Baronage states that Sir Edward Montagu, of Hemington, the progenitor of the Earls and Dukes of Manchester, was a descendant of a branch of the family.

SIR EDWARD MONTAGU, Knt., a distinguished lawyer, son of Thomas Montagu, Esq. of Hemington, by Agnes, his wife, dau. of William Dudley, of Clopton, was appointed lord-chief-justice of the court of King's Bench in 1539, which office he resigned in 1545, and was constituted in the same year, lord-chief-justice of the Common Pleas: "a descent," says Fuller, "in honour, but an ascent in profit." Sir Edward was also of the privy council, and in such high favour and esteem with his sovereign, HENRY VIII., that the king appointed him one of those sixteen executors of his last will and testament who should be regents of the kingdom, and governors to his son, EDWARD VI. He m. thrice; and the eldest son of his third marriage (the sons of his first marriage all d. in infancy),

SIR EDWARD MONTAGU, Knt., m. Elizabeth, dau. of Sir James Harington, of Exton, in Rutlandshire, by whom he had six sons,

I. Edward (Sir), 1st Lord Montagu, of Boughton, ancestor of the Dukes of Montagu (see BURKE'S Extinct Peerage).
II. Walter (Sir). III. HENRY (Sir), of whom hereafter.
IV. Charles (Sir). V. James, Lord Bishop of Winchester.
VI. Sydney (Sir), ancestor of the Earls of Sandwich.

The 3rd son,

SIR HENRY MONTAGU, b. circa 1653, was one of the representatives of the city of London in the parliament called by JAMES I., upon his accession (19 March, 1604), and acquired great distinction as a parliamentary orator. In 1616, he was appointed lord-chief-justice of the court of King's Bench; in 1620, constituted lord-treasurer of England; and elevated, 19 Dec. in the same year, to the peerage, as Baron Montagu, of Kimbolton, and Viscount Mandeville. Upon the accession of CHARLES I., his lordship was advanced (5 Feb. 1626) to an earldom, as Earl of Manchester; and subsequently appointed lord-privy-seal. He m. 1st, 1 June, 1601, Catherine, 2nd dau. of Sir William Spencer, of Yarnton, in Oxfordshire, 3rd son of Sir John Spencer, of Althorp, and by her (who d. 7 Dec. 1612) had issue,

I. EDWARD, his successor.
II. Walter, who, having embraced the catholic religion, retired into a monastery in France; and attracting the notice of the queen-mother, Mary de Medicis, was received into the especial favour of that princess, and eventually appointed, by her, abbot of St. Martin's Abbey, near Pontoise, in the diocese of Rouen. He was also of her cabinet council, and the chief instrument of introducing Cardinal Mazarin to her majesty. In 1643, he was apprehended at Rochester, coming to England with letters of importance, and he remained in confinement here until 1647, when he was banished the kingdom by a vote of parliament. He d. in 1670, and was buried in the church belonging to the Hospital of Incurables, at Paris.

MAR.

MAR, EARL OF (John-Francis-Erskine Goo Erskine), and Lord Garioch, M.A. Cantab and one of the representative peers of Scotland,

1 June, 1866, as 26th earl,* b. 29 March, 1836; pt. 1866, Alice-Mary-Sinclair, dau. of n Hamilton, Esq. of Hilston Park, co. th, and has a son, ANCIS-HAMILTON SINCLAIR-CUNLIFFE-BROOKS-FORBES, Garioch, b. 25 Feb. 1868.

Lineage.

in of the Earls of Mar is described by Lord Hailes as ts antiquity." According to the most eminent of erage lawyers, Mr. John Riddell, "the Earldom of oldest Scottish earldom by descent, as it is in many e most remarkable in the empire, for the direct heir- ie representative, through an illustrious ancestry, of s who were Earls of Mar ab initio. The Earldom of e justly considered the premier earldom of Scotland." ther old Scottish earldoms, that of Mar was descend- rs-general.

Mormaer of Mar was killed at the battle of Clontarf, in 1014, and Ruadri, who is mentioned as Mormaer the "Book of Deer," appears as "Rothri comes," the "Seven Earls" in the reign of ALEXANDER I. r earlier, Morgund was earl of Mar. His line rarily superseded by one Gilchrist, who called n Morgund's legitimacy, was earl, circa 1180- founded the priory of Monymusk. The plea nacy seems to have been unfounded, at least by ge, and the next two earls were Morgund's son nd Duncan's son William, who was great chamber- tland 1252-5. Gilchrist's claim, which had passed succession to the Lundin or Durward family, was satisfied by a grant of lands between Dee and Don. ld, son of William, was father of Earl Gratney, and lst wife of King ROBERT BRUCE.

Y, 7th† EARL OF MAR, succeeded in 1297, and died end of 1305, having m. Christian Bruce, sister of King By her (who afterwards m. Sir Christopher Seton ndrew Moray, of Bothwell) he had,

, his successor.

n. Sir John Menteith, Lord of Arran, by whom she esides a son, John Menteith (who d. s. p.), a dau., an, who m. 1st, Sir Edward Keith, of Syntoun (who is brother Robert Keith, mareshal of Scotland, fell at m in 1346); 2ndly, Sir Robert Erskine of that ilk, he had by the first marriage a dau. and heir, Margaret, . 1st, Sir David Barclay of Brechin (by whom she had anet, wife of Walter Stewart, Earl of Athole); 2ndly, omas Erskine, her stepfather's son, by whom she had , Lord Erskine and Earl of Mar.

), 8th EARL OF MAR, a captive in England in his boy- tored after Bannockburn, fell at the battle of Dupplin. sobel-Stewart, and by her (who m. 2ndly, Geoffry , and 3rdly, William Careswell, and d. circa 1348)

, his successor.

RET, COUNTESS OF MAR.

, 9th EARL OF MAR, s. 1332, and was great Chamberlain nd under DAVID II. He obtained the lordship (some- ed earldom) of Garioch in 1355 on the death of his her, Christian Bruce, on whom it had been conferred ROBERT I. He m. 1st, Margaret, Countess of Menteith n right, and widow of John Moray, of Bothwell (this was dissolved by divorce, and the same lady was after- wife of Robert, Duke of Albany, Gov. of Scotland); argaret Stewart, Countess of Angus. Dying s. p. 1377, mas was s. by his sister,

RET, COUNTESS OF MAR, who m. 1st, William, 1st Earl as, who in her right was Earl of Mar, and d. 1384; r John Swinton, of Swinton, and dying circa 1392, left her first husband,

, Earl of Douglas, who m. the Princess Isabel, dau. of RT II., and fell at Otterburn, in 1388, leaving no lawful

, who succeeded her mother.

, COUNTESS OF MAR, m. 1st, Sir Malcolm Drummond of brother of Queen Annabella; 2ndly, 1404, Alexander natural son of Alexander, Earl of Buchan (brother of III.), who had previously taken violent possession of the widowed countess and her castle of Kildrummy. In breach of an engagement entered into in 1395, with the heir presumptive of the Earldom of Mar (the wife of Sir Thomas Erskine), ROBERT III. confirmed a charter, granted by Countess Isabel to her second husband on 9 Dec. 1404, by which he acquired a a liferent of the earldom. The countess d. s. p. in 1409, and her surviving husband obtained, on his resignation, a charter of the earldom from JAMES I. in 1426 for himself and his natural son, Thomas, a charter afterwards accounted null, inasmuch as the resigner was but a liferenter. Alexander Stewart, who was designed Earl of Mar, and was distinguished in history as the hero of the battle of Harlaw, fought in 1411, d. in 1435, his natural son, Sir Thomas Stewart, having predeceased him, also s. p.; and JAMES I., in virtue of a remainder to the crown in the charter of 1426, took possession of the lands of the earldom.

ROBERT, LORD ERSKINE (descended as above from Elyne of Mar), made a lord of parliament before 24 May, 1429, was retoured heir of the Countess Isabel* in 1438, on the death of Alexander Stewart, and designed himself Earl of Mar, and his possession was only indirectly interfered with by the crown. He d. 1452, leaving by his wife, a dau. of David, 3rd Earl of Crawford, a son,

THOMAS, 2ND LORD ERSKINE, and de jure 13th Earl of Mar. In 1457 his father's service was reduced, at the instance of JAMES II., before an Assize of Error, when the earldom was found to have devolved on the crown, ratione bastardiæ, on the decease of Alexander Stewart. The Earldom of Mar was afterwards bestowed, in 1459, on Prince John, son of JAMES II., in 1482, on Prince Alexander, son of the same king, in 1486, on Prince John, son of JAMES III., and in 1562, on Queen MARY's natural brother, James Stewart, all which grants were eventually declared to have been inept. By his wife, Elizabeth Douglas, dau. of James, 3rd Earl of Morton, Thomas, Lord Erskine, had (with a dau. Isabel, m. to Patrick, Lord Graham of Kilpont) a son, ALEXANDER, LORD ERSKINE, and de jure 14th Earl of Mar, father of

ROBERT, LORD ERSKINE, and de jure 15th Earl of Mar, who fell at Flodden, 1513, and was father of

JOHN, LORD ERSKINE, and de jure 16th Earl of Mar, who d. 1552. He m. Margaret, dau. of Archibald, 2nd Earl of Argyll, and had (with other issue, as to whom see next article), JOHN, LORD ERSKINE, who, after an investigation into his rights, was restored by Queen MARY, by a charter dated 23 June, 1565, to the Earldom of Mar, of which his ancestor was declared to have been unjustly dispossessed, and was thereafter recognized as Earl of Mar. He was Regent of Scotland in 1571 and 1572, in which latter year he died. He m. Annabella, dau. of Sir William Murray, of Tullibardine, and had a son, John, who succeeded him in the earldom.

JOHN, 18th EARL OF MAR, was Lord Treasurer of Scotland from 1615 to 1630. In the Decreet of Ranking of 1606, the Earl of Mar was assigned a position conformable to writs of 1395 and 1404, the oldest evidents produced by him, but protests have continually been made by his successors, down to a very recent date, for precedence before all other earls, to which, if antiquity of creation were alone to be considered, they were undoubtedly entitled. An Act of Parliament of 1587 in favour of this earl, and a decree of the Court of Session, in an action by him against Lord Elphinstone for the recovery of Kildrummy, contain the most explicit recognition of his succession as heir-general to the Countess Isabel, and of the status of his ancestor, the 1st Lord Erskine, as Earl of Mar. The Treasurer Earl m. 1st, Anne, dau. of David, 2nd Lord Drummond, by whom he had JOHN, his successor; 2ndly, Mary Stewart, dau. of Esmé, Duke of Lennox, by whom he had, James, Earl of Buchan in his wife's right; Henry, on whom the barony of Cardross was settled; Sir Charles Erskine, of Alva; and other issue (see BUCHAN, E., and ROSSLYN, E.). He d. 1634.

JOHN, 19th EARL OF MAR, son and heir of the last, m. Christian Hay, dau. of Francis, 8th Earl of Erroll, and d. 1654. He was father of

JOHN, 20th EARL OF MAR, who d. 1668, having m. 1st, Mary, dau. of Walter, Earl of Buccleuch, s. p.; 2ndly, Mary, dau. of George, Earl of Seaforth, by whom he was father of

CHARLES, 21st EARL OF MAR, who m. Mary, dau. of George, 2nd Earl of Panmure. He d. 1689, having had issue,

JOHN, his successor.

James, a judge of the Court of Session by the title of Lord Grange, who by his wife, Rachel Chiesly, had two sons, finding of the Committee of Privileges in 1875, regard- Earldom of Mar claimed by Walter Coningsby, Earl of having given rise to doubts whether the ancient dignity had not been by some means "surrendered or merged in n," an Act of Parliament was passed in 1885 to re- ese doubts by confirming the old title as fully as if there n no such surrender.

† Earls of Mar are here numbered from Ruadri, or the first who was designed Earl, it being only from that the line of succession is clear.

* There were two retours, each to half of the earldom, and apparently two different halves. Robert, Lord Lyle, claimed to be junior co-heir in the lands on grounds not now known, and which Lord Erskine seems to have disputed; but the existence of this claim appears to account for Erskine sometimes claiming half the lands, and sometimes the whole.

Charles, an officer in the army, who d. s. p. 1774, and James, who in 1740 m. his cousin, Lady Frances Erskine, as below, and d. 1776.

Mary, m. Hugh Paterson, Esq. of Bannackburn.

The eldest son,

JOHN, 22nd EARL OF MAR, was Secretary of State in 1706, and was attainted for his share in the insurrection of 1715. His forfeited lands were purchased by Lord Grange and David Erskine of Dun, and what remained of the Mar estates was entailed on his son, Thomas, Lord Erskine, and his heirs, with remainder to Lady Frances and her heirs. The forfeited earl d. abroad in 1732, having m. 1st, Margaret, dau. of Thomas, 6th Earl of Kinnoull, by whom he had,

Thomas, Lord Erskine, who m. Charlotte, dau. of Charles, 1st Earl of Hopetoun, and d. s. p. in 1766.

He m. 2ndly, Lady Frances Pierrepont, 3rd dau. of Evelyn, Duke of Kingston, by whom he had,

LADY FRANCES ERSKINE, who but for her father's attainder would have been COUNTESS OF MAR. She m. her cousin-german, James Erskine, younger son of Lord Grange, and d. 1776, having had issue, JOHN-FRANCIS ERSKINE, who in 1824 was restored by Act of Parliament to the Earldom of Mar, as "grandson and lineal representative" of the attainted earl. He m. 1770, Frances, dau. of Charles Floyer, Gov. of Madras, and had, with other issue.

JOHN-THOMAS, his successor.

James-Floyer, m. Susan, dau. of Charles-Kirkpatrick Sharpe, Esq. of Hoddom, and d. s. p. 1798.

Henry-David, whose son, Walter-Coningsby Erskine, s. to the Earldom of Kellie in 1866.

The eldest son,

JOHN-THOMAS, 24th EARL OF MAR, m. 1795, Janet, dau. of Patrick Miller, Esq. of Dalswinton, and had,

I. JOHN-FRANCIS-MILLER, his heir.

I. Frances-Jemima, m. 1830, William-James Goodeve, Esq., and d. 1842, having had,

1 JOHN-FRANCIS-ERSKINE GOODEVE-ERSKINE, now Earl of Mar.

*1 Frances-Jemima-Erskine, m. 1854, Lieut.-Gen. James Nowell Young, late Judge Advocate General, Bengal, and d. 11 Aug. 1887, aged 55, leaving issue.

2 Eliza-Philadelphia-Erskine, b. 1834; m. 1862, Rev. Edward-Maule Cole, M.A., vicar of Wetwang, Yorkshire, and has issue.

3 Madeline-Erskine.

II. Jane-Jannetta, d. 1862, having m. 1830, Edward Wilmot-Chetwode, Esq. of Woodbrooke, Queen's Co., and left issue.

The son and successor,

JOHN-FRANCIS-MILLER, 25th Earl of Mar, established his right to the earldom of Kellie in 1834; m. 1827, Philadelphia, dau. of Sir C.-G.-Stuart Menteath, of Closeburn, bart., and d. s. p. 19 June, 1866, when the title of Kellie went to the next male heir, and his lordship's nephew, JOHN-FRANCIS-ERSKINE GOODEVE-ERSKINE, became EARL OF MAR.

N CHURCHILL, the most celebrated General of the in which he lived, was b. at Ash, his grandfather, n Drake's seat, in Devonshire, 24 June, 1650, and d his early education in the Dublin Corporation School, under Dr. William Hill. In his youth he age-of-honour to James, Duke of York, through favour he obtained an ensigncy in the guards. 1, he served at Tangier against the Moors; and in the army sent the following year under the of Monmouth, to the assistance of LOUIS XIV., against utch, signalized himself at the siege of Maestricht. 9, he attended the Duke of York into Flanders, and 0 into Scotland. He was also with the duke in 1682, the "Gloucester" frigate, in her voyage to Scotland, on the Lemon and Oar sand, and was one of those for preservation his royal highness was particularly ous. In the December following, by the influence of uke, he was created Lord Churchill, of Eyemouth, wick, in the peerage of Scotland; and the next year, then a general officer, he got the command of the 1st nt of dragoons, at that time newly raised. The of York ascending the throne, as JAMES II., Lord hill was accredited ambassador to the court of France. reated a peer of England, 14 May, 1685, as Baron hill, of Sandridge, co. Hertford. Notwithstanding, how- hese sterling marks of royal favour, Lord Churchill, ad assisted in defeating the Duke of Monmouth gemoor, was amongst the first to attach himself to ortunes of the Prince of Orange, and to vote e Convention Parliament for the vacancy of the e, and for filling it with the Prince and Princess nge. For these services he was sworn of the privy il to the new sovereign, and created, 9 April, 1689, Earl rlborough; in which year he was sent to command the English forces in the Netherlands, under Prince Waldeck general of the Dutch troops. He subsequently fell under the displeasure of King WILLIAM, and was confined for a short time in the Tower. Upon the accession of Queen ANNE, her majesty appointed the Earl of Marlborough captain-general of all her forces in England, and of those employed in conjunction with her allies; and then began that military career which is one of the most brilliant in English history. His first great campaign was in 1702, when he accomplished the reduction of Venloo, Stevenswaert, Ruremonde, and Liege, and, in reward, he was made, 14 Dec. 1702, Marquess of Blandford, and DUKE OF MARLBOROUGH. Within two years afterwards, 13 (2nd, O.S.) Aug. 1704, his grace won the great victory of Blenheim, which has immortalized his name, and for which he obtained a grant from the crown, at the desire of parliament, to himself and his heirs, of the royal manor of Woodstock and hundred of Wooton, in Oxfordshire. Here a splendid palace, bearing the proud name of BLENHEIM, was erected, by the Queen's orders, and a monumental pillar raised to hand down to posterity the achievements of the illustrious soldier. Marlborough's other principal victories were those of Ramillies, in 1706; Oudenard, in 1708; and Malplaquet in 1709. His Grace m. 1 Oct. 1678, Sarah, dau. and co-heir of Richard Jennings, Esq. of Sandridge, co. The Duchess d. 24 Oct. 1733.

II. Anne, m. in Jan. 1699, to Charles Spencer, Earl of Sunderland (see family of SPENCER), and d. 15 April, 1716, leaving issue,

Charles, Earl of Sunderland, who s. his aunt Henrietta, in the DUKEDOM OF MARLBOROUGH.

John, ancestor of EARL SPENCER.

III. Elizabeth, m. to Scroop, 1st Duke of Bridgewater; and d. 22 March, 1713-14, without surviving issue.

IV. Mary, m. 17 March, 1705, to John, Duke of Montagu, and d. 14 May, 1751.

The Duke having no prospect of heirs male after the death of his only son, and being desirous of having his honours and dignities, together with the manor of Woodstock and house of Blenheim, settled on his posterity, an Act for that purpose obtained the royal assent, 21 Dec. 1706; and on 28 Jan. ensuing, the like sanction was given to another act for settling on him and his posterity a pension of £5000 per annum. The Emperor LEOPOLD, in consideration of the eminent services performed by the Duke of Marlborough, created him a Prince of the Empire in 1704; and his majesty's son and successor, the Emperor JOSEPH, bestowed upon his grace the principality of Mindelheim, in Suabia. The Duke lost the royal favour and his command at the end of the reign of Queen ANNE, but regained both on the accession of GEORGE I. He d. 16 June, 1722, having survived some years his mental faculties, and was s., under the act of parliament, by his dau.,

HENRIETTA, as Duchess of Marlborough; at whose decease, 24 Oct. 1733, the honours and estates of the CHURCHILLS devolved upon her nephew,

CHARLES SPENCER, 5th Earl of Sunderland, as Duke of Marlborough (see post).

Family of Spencer.

SIR JOHN SPENCER, Knt. of Wormleighton, co. Warwick, purchased that estate 3 Sept. 1506, and soon after began the structure of the manor house there. He was knighted by HENRY VIII., and appears to have possessed a large property in the cos. of Warwick and Northampton; he was a noble housekeeper, liberal to his poor neighbours, and bountiful to his tenants and servants, re-built the church of Wormleighton, as well as those of Brington and Stanton, co. Northampton, and also bestowed vestments and chalices on them. Sir John, m. Isabel, dau. and co-heir of Walter Grant, Esq. of Snitterfield, co. Warwick, and d. 14 April, 1522, when he was s. by his eldest son,

Sir William Spencer, Knt. of Wormleighton, and of Althorp, co. Northampton, High Sheriff of the latter co. 23 and 24 Henry VIII., knighted, 1529. He m. Susan, dau. of Sir Richard Knightley, Knt. of Fawsley, co. Northampton, and d. 22 June, 1532, leaving (with six daus.) an only son,

I. John (Sir), his heir.
II. Thomas, of Claverdon, co. Warwick.
III. William (Sir), of Yarnton, co. Oxford.
IV. Richard, of Offley, co. Hertford.
V. Edward, d. s. p.

Sir John d. 8 Nov. 1586, and was s. by his eldest son,

Sir John Spencer, Knt of Wormleighton and Althorp, who was knighted 1588, and m. Mary, only dau and heir of Sir Robert Catlyn, Knt. of Berne, co. Dorset, Chief Justice of the King's Bench, by whom (who m. 2ndly, Edward Glascoke, Esq. of Castle Hedingham, co. Essex), he had an only son, Robert (Sir), his heir.

Sir John d. 9 Jan. 1599, and was s. by his son,

Sir Robert Spencer, Knt. of Wormleighton, co. Warwick, was elevated to the peerage, 21 July, 1603, by the title of Baron Spencer, of Wormleighton. This nobleman appears to have been a very spirited member of parliament, as his reply to Thomas Howard, Earl of Arundel, in a debate upon the royal prerogative, in 1621, evinces:—"My lord," said Howard, "when these things were doing, your ancestors were keeping sheep."—"When my ancestors were keeping sheep," replied Spencer, "your lordship's ancestors were plotting treason." This excited such irritation, at the moment, that Arundel, as the aggressor, was committed to the Tower; but soon after, acknowledging his fault, was discharged. His lordship m. 15 Feb. 1587, Margaret, dau. and co-heir of Sir Francis Willoughby, of Woollaton, and, dying 25 Oct. 1627, was s. by his only son,

William, 2nd baron, who m. Penelope, dau. of Henry Wriothesley, 3rd Earl of Southampton, by whom (who d. 16 July, 1667) he had (with other issue),

Henry, his successor.
Robert, created Viscount Teviot, in the peerage of Scotland, in 1685, a dignity that expired with himself.

His lordship d. 19 Dec. 1636, and was s. by his eldest son,

Henry, 3rd baron; who was created, 8 June, 1643, Earl of Sunderland. His lordship m. 20 July, 1639, Lady Dorothy Sydney, dau. of Robert, Earl of Leicester, and by her (who was celebrated as Sacharissa by the poet Waller, and who m. 2ndly, 8 July, 1652, Robert Smythe, Esq. of Bounds, Kent, and d. 5 Feb. 1684) had an only son. The earl fell, aged only 23, at the battle of Newbury in 1643, in the royal cause, of which he was an ardent supporter, and was s. by his son,

Robert, K.G., 2nd earl, b. 1640; m. 10 June, 1665, Anne (who d. 26 April, 1715), dau. of George Digby, Earl of Bristol, and was s. 1702, by his only surviving son,

Charles, K.G., 3rd earl. This nobleman was a distinguished statesman, and one of the principal Secretaries in the reigns of Queen Anne and George I. His lordship m. 1st, Arabella, dau. and co-heir of Henry, 2nd Duke of Newcastle, by whom he had an only dau.,

Frances, m. to Henry Howard, 4th Earl of Carlisle.

He m. 2ndly, Anne, 2nd dau. of John, 1st and celebrated Duke of Marlborough, by whom he had (with two daus.)

Robert, his successor.

John, ancestor of the Earls Spencer.

His lordship m. 3rdly, 5 Dec. 1717, Judith, dau. and co-heir of Benjamin Tichborne, Esq., by whom (who m. 2ndly, 10 Dec. 1724, Sir Robert Sutton, K.B. of Broughton, co. Lincs, and d. 17 May, 1749) he had a son, William, who d. in infancy. He d. 19 April, 1722, and was s. by his eldest son, Robert, 4th earl, who d. unm., 27 Nov. 1729, when the honours devolved upon his brother,

Charles, 5th earl, b. 22 Nov. 1706. This nobleman, upon the demise of his aunt, Henrietta, Countess of Godolphin and Duchess of Marlborough, 24 Oct. 1733, s. to the honours of his illustrious grandfather, John Churchill, and became 3rd Duke of Marlborough. (See family of Churchill). His grace m. 23 May, 1732, Elizabeth, dau. of Thomas, Lord Trevor, by whom (who d. 7 Oct. 1761) he had, with other issue,

I. George, his successor.

MAXWELL OF POLLOK.

STIRLING-MAXWELL, SIR JOHN-MAXWELL, of Pollok, co. Renfrew, D.L. for cos. Inverness, Renfrew, and Glasgow, M.P. for Glasgow (College Div.) since 1895, Scottish Universities commissioner, hon. col. 3rd Lanarkshire R.V., late lieut. Lanarkshire yeo. cav., b. 6 June, 1866; s. his father as 10th bart. 1878.

Lineage.

SIR JOHN MAXWELL (3rd son of Aymer de Maxwell, Sheriff of Dumfries (see preceding article) had from his father the lands of Netherpollok, Dryps, and Calderwood in Clydesdale and was Governor of Dumbarton Castle. His son and heir was

SIR ROBERT MAXWELL, of Pollok, and his son and successor, SIR JOHN MAXWELL, of Pollok, who d. circa 1360, and was s. by his son, SIR JOHN MAXWELL, of Pollok. He m. 1st, Isabel de Lindsay, dau. of Sir James Lindsay, of Crawford, by Lady Egidia Stewart, his wife, half-sister of ROBERT II., King of Scotland (see Royal Lineage), and had,

I. JOHN (Sir), his successor.
II. ROBERT (Sir), ancestor of the MAXWELLS of Calderwood (recently extinct), the MAXWELLS, LORDS FARNHAM, &c.
III. William, of Aikenhead. His descendant in the 7th generation, John Maxwell, sold Aikenhead in 1611.
I. Janet, m. to Thomas Murray, of Culbyne.
II. Agnes, m. to Sir Gilbert Kennedy, of Dunure, and was ancestress of the Marquess of Ailsa.

Sir John m. 2ndly, Elizabeth de Saint Michel, heiress of Whitchester, co. Roxburgh (afterwards held by the noble house of Buccleuch), but apparently without issue. His eldest son,

SIR JOHN MAXWELL, early distinguished himself in arms and chivalry, especially at the celebrated battle of Otterburn, or Chevy Chase (in 1388), with James, 2nd Earl of Douglas, husband of Princess Margaret, his mother's 1st cousin; her brother, Sir James Lindsay, Earl of Buchan and Crawford (predecessor of the Earls of Crawford, &c.); John Montgomery, of Eglesham, husband of Elizabeth Eglinton, her half-sister, through the lady Egidia, their joint parent, "Messire Jehan Montgomery," their son, Sir Alexander Lindsey; the Dunbars, and other exalted kinsmen. He there, according to his cotemporary Froissart, captured Sir Ralph Percy, son of the Earl of Northumberland, and brother to the noted Hotspur, an exploit that drew from John Dunbar, Earl of Murray (husband of Princess Marjory, dau. of ROBERT II., thus his relative also, and under whom he served and graduated in chivalry), the characteristic encomium, "Well, Maxwell, hast thou earned thy spurs to-day!" The gallant Sir John Maxwell, of Pollok, his father's heir, m. a dau. of John Montgomery, of Eglesham (by Elizabeth Eglintown, heiress of Eglinton and Ardrossan), and through this alliance the Maxwells of Pollok and the Maxwells of Springkell surcharge their saltire with one of the annulets of Eglinton, and was s. by

THOMAS MAXWELL, of Pollok, living A.D. 1440, who had two sons,

I. JOHN, his heir.
II. Hugh, from whom descended, John Maxwell, who had a charter of Auldhouse in 1572, and m. a dau. of Robert Dunlop, of Hapland, and had, with other issue,

1 George, of Auldhouse, minister of Mearns, co. Renfrew, m. 1st Janet, dau. of John Miller, of Newton, and had a son,

John, of Auldhouse, minister of Eastwood, afterwards of the High Church of Glasgow, and rector of University there, m. (contract, 8 Jan. 1621) Elizabeth, dau. of James Stewart, tutor of Blackhall, and d. circa 1666, having had six sons and three daus. Of the sons, Sir George s. to Pollok; and Zacharias, of Blawarthill, m. Jean, dau. of John Maxwell, of Southbarr, by whom he had a son, Sir John Maxwell, 2nd Bart. of Pollok.

Rev. George Maxwell m. 2ndly, Jane, dau. of William Mure, of Glanderston, and by her had five sons and one dau., of whom William, the eldest, was ancestor of the Maxwell's, of Springkell (see next article). He m. 3rdly, Janet, dau. of — Douglas, of Waterside, and by her had five sons, of whom Hugh was ancestor of the Maxwell's of Dalswinton. Mr. George Maxwell d. Nov. 1648.

2 Patrick, living 1585, m. Elizabeth, dau. of James Boyd, of Trodrig, Archbishop of Glasgow. His descendant in the 6th generation,

Thomas Maxwell, b. 1812; m. 1848, Constantia-Margaret Church, and d. 1878, leaving issue, Patrick-William, b. 1855, m. 1884, Kate-Elizabeth Suckling, and has three daus.

Elizabeth, m. George Brown, Esq.

Amy-Jane-Marion.

Constance-Ada, m. Scott-Moncrieff Penney, Esq., advocate Scotch Bar. Euphan.

The elder son,

JOHN MAXWELL, of Pollok, living in 1452, had three sons and one dau. The eldest son,

JOHN MAXWELL, of Pollok, s. his father circa 1490. He m. Lady Elizabeth Stewart,* dau. of John, Earl of Lennox, Lord Darnley, by Margaret, dau. of Alexander, Lord Montgomery, having issue by her,

I. JOHN (Sir), his heir.

II. Robert, rector of Torbolton, 1521, Bishop of Orkney, 1536.

III. George, of Cowglen, m. Janet, dau. of — Maxwell, of Tinwald, and by her (who m. 2ndly, John Maxwell, of Dargarvel, and d. circa 1546) had a son, Sir John, of Cowglen, b. 1524, of whom hereafter.

IV. William, of Carnwaderick, m. Janet Culheart, and by her (who m. 2ndly, John Robertson, of Ernock) had a son, John of Carnwaderick.

MEYRICK.

TAPPS-GERVIS-MEYRICK, SIR GEORGE-AUGUSTUS, Bart., of Hinton-Admiral, co. Hants, D.L., b. 9 March, 1855; s. his father as 4th bart. 1896; m. 1 Oct. 1884, Jacintha, youngest dau. of Charles-Paul Phipps, Esq., M.P., of Chalcot, Wilts, and has issue,

I. GEORGE-LLEWELLYN, b. 23 Sept. 1885.
II. Richard-Owen, b. 20 Oct. 1892.
I. Mary-Jacintha.
II. Clara-Eve.

Lineage.

The Meyricks have possessed the same ancestral residence and estates at Bodorgan, Anglesey, without interruption above a thousand years.

RHODRI MAWR (Roderic the Great), King of All Wales, began to reign A.D. 843, and fell in battle 876. From him were descended (besides others) Owen Gwynedd, Prince of Wales, A.D. 1136, and Llowarch ap Bran, Lord of Monau (Menai), and founder of the II. noble tribe of North Wales and Powys. They were brothers-in-law, their wives being sisters.

LLOWARCH AP BRAN was s. by his son, who m. his cousin, Gwenllian, granddau. of Prince Owen Gwynedd. He was s. by his son,

MEREDYDD, of Bodorgan, whose only child and heiress,

EVA, m. Einion Sais, the direct descendant and representative in the 6th degree from Cydafael Ynnyd, lord of Cydewain, co. Montgomery, and judge of Powys (i.e., regent, under the Prince, of Central Wales, called Powys, or Powys-land). He was a lineal descendant from Urien, lord of Rhegid, A.D. 90, who is claimed to be directly descended from Coel Codebog, a British king, A.D. 262. Cydafael m. Arianwen, dau. of Jerwarth, eldest son of Prince Meredydd ap Bleddyn, who was Prince of Wales, A.D. 1063.

In the year 1212, when the country was threatened by an invasion of the English, Cydafael seized a firebrand, with which he ran from mountain to mountain summoning the people to arms, whereby he gave such timely notice that the invaders were repelled. For this service his kinsman, Llewellyn the Great, granted him a coat of arms, viz., sable (to indicate the night), three firebrands or, fired ppr. This coat was augmented (temp. HENRY V.) by a grant to his descendant Einion Sais, who m. Eva, of Bodorgan, of a chevron arg. charged with a fleur-de-lys gules, between two choughs sable, and a crest was added, viz., a castle arg., surmounted by a chough (or brân) holding a fleur-de-lys in allusion to Castell-Dinas Bran, the principal fortress of his ancestor, Prince Bleddyn and the place where Cydafael held his court as judge of Powys.

EINION SAIS was usher or chamberlain of the palace of Sheen (Richmond), to HENRY VI., and so was called Sais (i.e. Saxon), on account of his being so much in England. He was s. by his son,

HEYLIN, of Bodorgan, whose son and successor,

LLEWELLYN AP HEYLIN, m. Angharad, dau. of William ap Evan, another descendant of Prince Owen Gwynedd. Llewellyn fought at the battle of Bosworth on the side of HENRY VII., and his two-handed sword and salt-cellar are still preserved at Bodorgan, where also his saddle was a few years back. His son, MEYRICK AP LLEWELLYN was captain of the guard at the coronation of HENRY VIII. He was the first high sheriff of the county of Anglesey, which office he held till his death. From him the name MEYRICK, signifying "Guardian," is derived, as a surname, in pursuance of the act of HENRY VIII. requiring that the name of every man at that time should be borne by his descendants as a surname, there being no surnames before that time in Wales. Rowland, 2nd son of Meyrick ap Llewellyn, was the first Protestant bishop of Bangor, and was buried in Bangor cathedral; from him are descended the MEYRI... Goodrich Court, and of Bush. MILLAIS.

MILLAIS, SIR JOHN EVERETT, Bart. of Palace Gate, Kensington, Middlesex, b. 28 Nov. 1888, s. his father in 1897, as 3rd bart.

Lineage.

The family of Millais, originally from Normandy, settled in the Island of Jersey. "Les Monts Millais," a bold range of hills to the north-east of the town of S. Helier, and the "Cueillette de Millais" in the parish of S. Ouen, seem to prove that in early times its members were among the most notable residents in the island.

Evidences exist showing that Geoffray Milayes held his lands under the crown in 1331, and John Millays, presumably his son, paid tax to the Prior of St. Clements in 1381. The family and name, spelt also as Milles, Mylays and Milays, is traced from this period by the tenure of property and their intermarriage with several of the principal families in Jersey, from whom are derived many notable houses and personages connected with the military and civil history of this country.

JOHN MYLAYS m. about 1540, Perrine, sole dau. and heiress of the Le Jarderay family, and thus became possessed of the estate of Tapon, which remained in the family for nearly three centuries. Their eldest son,

Lineage.

The family descends from

Sir Walter Molesworth, an eminent soldier, temp. Edward I., who accompanied that monarch to the Holy Land, and was constituted, in the 26th of the same reign, sheriff of the cos. of Bedford and Bucks, for ten years. From Sir Walter we pass to his descendant,

Sir Roger Molesworth, of Huntingdonshire, whose son,

John Molesworth, Esq. of Helpeston, in Northamptonshire, was escheator of the co. Rutland. He d. in 1542, nd was s. by his son,

John Molesworth, Esq., who m. Margaret, dau. and heir of William Westcott, Esq. of Hansacre, in Staffordshire, and had, with other issue,

Anthony, his successor.

John, of Pencarrow, ancestor of the Baronets Molesworth.

The elder of these,

Anthony Molesworth, Esq., m. Cicely, dau. and heir of Thomas Hurland, Esq. of Fotheringay, co. Northampton, and fixed his residence there; but from liberal habits, and the expenses incurred by entertaining Queen Elizabeth at his seat, Mr. Molesworth became so much involved in debt, that he disposed of the greater part of his landed possessions to discharge the incumbrances. His elder son,

William Molesworth, Esq., m. Mary, dau. of Sir Francis Palmes, of Ashwell, co. Rutland, and left three sons, Guy, col. of horse in the royal army during the civil wars.

Edward, capt. of foot in 1642, and subsequently major-gen., m. Miss Hatbean. He d. leaving three daus., Mary, Jane, and Frances.
Robert.

The 3rd son,

Robert Molesworth, Esq., was also a military officer during the civil wars in Ireland; and after that kingdom was delivered up by the Marquess of Ormonde to the Parliament of England, he became an adventurer for continuing hostilities, in order to reduce it to obedience, by making three several subscriptions, two of £600 each, and one of £300, for which he obtained two thousand five hundred acres of land in the baronies of Moghergallin and Lune, co. Meath. He was subsequently an eminent merchant in Dublin. He m. Judith, eldest dau. and co-heir of John Bysse, Esq., who was afterwards lord-chief-baron of the Exchequer in Ireland; and by her (who m. 2ndly, Sir William Tichborne, Knt. of Beaulieu, co. Louth) left at his death, 3 Sept. 1656, an only child,

Robert Molesworth, who, having been ambassador at the court of Denmark for several years, was advanced to the peerage of Ireland, 16 July 1716, as Baron of Philipstown and Viscount Molesworth. His lordship m. Letitia, 3rd dau. of Richard Coote, Lord Colooney, by whom he had,

I. John, his successor.

II. Richard, 3rd viscount.

III. William, captain in the wars with Spain, M.P. for Philipstown, and a commissioner of trade and plantations; m. in 1726, Anne, eldest dau. of Robert Adair, Esq. of Holybrook, co. Wicklow, and had issue,

He m. 2ndly, 31 Jan. 1895, Ada-Isabel, youngest dau. of the late Rev. A. F. Wynter, rector of Barnardiston, Suffolk.

Lineage.

This is a junior branch of the family of Molyneux, Earl of Sefton, springing immediately, it is supposed, from Sir Thomas Molyneux, 2nd son of Sir William Molyneux, of Sefton, a celebrated warrior under the Black Prince, who added to his arms, as a distinction, the fleur-de-lis in the dexter chief, still borne by the family.

SIR THOMAS MOLYNEUX, who was b. at Calais, in 1531, falling into the hands of the enemy on the capture of that place, was ransomed for 500 crowns. He came to England in 1568, and was sent to Ireland in 1576, by Queen ELIZABETH, as Chancellor of the Exchequer, when he obtained, with extensive grants of land from her majesty, a lease for twenty-one years of the exports and imports of the city of Dublin (wines excepted) for the annual rent of £183. He m. Katherine, dau. of Ludovico Stabcort, governor of Bruges, and was s. at his decease, 1596, by his eldest surviving son,

DANIEL MOLYNEUX, Esq., M.P., appointed, in 1586, Ulster King-of-Arms; his celebrated collection of Irish family history, now among the MSS. of Trinity College, Dublin, as well as those in Ulster's Office, proves him to have been an accurate and very learned genealogist. He m. Jane, dau. of Sir William Usher, clerk of the privy council, and had, with three daus. five sons, viz.,

Lineage.

The MONTGOMERYS, descended from the noble house of Eglinton, have long been settled in the north of Ireland. They were amongst the soldiers of fortune who, by sustaining the English interest there, obtained large grants of land in the cos. of Down, Donegal, Fermanagh, Monaghan, and Cavan. The branch of which we are now about to treat, has been resident in Donegal for upwards of two centuries.

ROBERT MONTGOMERY, of Boneyglen, m. Miss Conyngham, and had several sons. To the eldest, JAMES, he left the family estate of Bonnyglen. The 2nd son, ALEXANDER MONTGOMERY, was a captain in the 62nd regiment, and sold his commission at the termination of the war in 1776, when he settled at The Hall, co. Donegal. He m. Mary-Dalway, dau. of James Allen, Esq. of Castle Dobbs, co. Antrim, and had issue,

He d. 11 May, 1841; his elder son,

I. HENRY-CONYNGHAM MONTGOMERY, entered the East India Company's military service in 1783, and served as a cavalry officer for twenty years. At the breaking out of the war with TIPPOO SULTAN, he raised a corps of 300 horse, and served with the grand combined army under General Sir John Floyd, when he was placed at the head of three battalions of infantry, 5,000 cavalry, and 17 pieces of artillery. Upon his subsequent departure for England, general orders were published to the army, both by the governor-general in council and by the government of Madras, highly complimentary of his services. Captain Montgomery was appointed, in 1803, inspecting-field-officer of yeomanry and volunteers in the co. Donegal, with the rank of lieut.-col. in the army. He served in parliament for the borough of St. Michael and the borough of Yarmouth, and for co. Donegal, and was created a Baronet 3 Oct. 1808. MORAY.

Moray, Earl of (Edmund-Archibald Stuart Lord Abernethy Strathearn, Doune, and St. Colm, in Scotland; Baron Stuart, of Castle Stuart, co. Inverness, in Great Britain; D.L. cos. Perth and Inverness, M.A. Oxford; Barrister at Law; b. 5 Nov. 1840; s. his cousin in 1895 as 15th earl; m. 6 Sept. 1877, Anna-Mary, of dau. Rev. George J. Collinson, of Clapham.

Lineage.

The old Celtic earldom of Moray came to an end early in the reign of DAVID I. A new earldom of Moray, granted by Robert Bruce to his nephew, THOMAS RANDOLPH, reverted to the crown in the reign of DAVID II. ROBERT II. conferred the earldom on his son-in-law, JOHN DUNBAR, and it was forfeited in the persons of Earl ARCHIBALD DOUGLAS and his Countess in 1455, after which it was for a short time possessed by a son of JAMES II. who d. in infancy. From 1501 to 1544, JAMES STEWART, natural son of JAMES IV. was Earl of Moray, and on his decease the earldom once more lapsed to the crown. On 13 Feb. 1548-9, under the regency of Arran, a charter of the earldom of Moray was granted to George, 3rd Earl of Huntly, a grant voided by his attainder on 28 May, 1563.

The next possessor of the earldom, and first of the present earls of Moray, was JAMES STEWART, prior of St. Andrews, son of JAMES V. by Margaret, dau. of John, 4th Lord Erskine. On 30 Jan. 1561-2 (Huntly's grant not having been formally recalled), a charter of the earldom of Moray and Lordship of Abernethy and Strathearn (i.e., Strathdearn in Moray), in favour of James Stewart, with remainder to the heirs male of his body, passed the Privy Seal, but it was prudently kept in retentis; and on 7 Feb. following he had the earldom of Mar bestowed on him in its place with the same limitation. But after Huntly's fall, Queen MARY, finding that the earldom of Mar belonged of right to Lord Erskine, granted her brother a new charter of the earldom of Moray of date 22 Jan. 1563-4, with the same remainder. A later charter, with remainder to heirs general, was granted him on 1 June, 1566, and ratified in Parliament on 19 April, 1567. The Earl of Moray was Regent of Scotland from 22 Aug. 1567, till his assassination in Linlithgow by Hamilton of Bothwellhaugh on 21 Jan. 1569-70. He m. Anne, eldest dau. of William, 4th Earl Marischal (who afterwards m. Colin, 6th Earl of Argyll), and had issue,

Lineage.

SIR ANDREW DOUGLAS (1248), younger son of Sir Archibald, the second chief of the house of Douglas, was father of

WILLIAM DOUGLAS, who in 1296 swore fealty to EDWARD I. for his lands in West Lothian, whose son, by Elizabeth, dau. of Alexander, 4th High Steward,

JAMES DOUGLAS, of Lothian, in 1315 had a grant from ROBERT I. of Kincavil and Calderclere. He d. 1320, having had, SIR WILLIAM, and SIR JOHN.

SIR WILLIAM DOUGLAS, of Liddesdale, the elder son, acquired the lordship of Dalkeith (an old possession of the Grahams), the barony of Aberdour, in Fife, lands in Tweeddale, and great territories in Liddesdale, Eskdale, and Ewesdale, which had been forfeited by the Soulises and Lovels. In 1335 he had a grant of the earldom of Atholl, but he resigned it in 1342. He was known as the "Flower of Chivalry," but met his death in 1353 at the hands of the 1st Earl of Douglas, in revenge partly for his wife's dishonour, partly for the death of Sir David Barclay. He had no male issue, and in 1351 entailed his property on the five sons of his brother John.

SIR JOHN DOUGLAS, younger brother of the Knight of Liddesdale, had by his wife, Agnes Monfode, with other issue,

I. JAMES (Sir), of Dalkeith, of whom below.
II. HENRY (Sir), of Lugton and Lochleven, who m. Marjory (who d. 1438), dau. of Sir John Stewart, of Ralston (half-brother of King ROBERT II.), and widow of Sir Alexander Lindsay, of Glenesk. Their son, Sir William Douglas, of Lochleven, acquired Ralston from his uncle, Sir Walter Stewart, and by his wife, Marjory, dau. of David, 1st Earl of Crawford, had Henry, his heir; and Sir James, of Ralston, who m. Janet, dau. and co-heir of Walter Fenton, of Baky, and had a son, Henry, of Culbirny. Sir Henry Douglas, of Lochleven, eldest son of Sir William, m. Elizabeth, dau. of Sir Robert Erskine, of Erskine, and was s. by his son Robert, of Lochleven, who fell at Flodden 1513, having m. 1st, Elizabeth, dau. of David Boswell, of Balmuto, by whom he had Robert, his heir; Agnes, m. Thomas Hamilton, of Raploch, and Margaret, m. Sir David Stewart, of Rossyth; 2ndly, Isabel, Countess of Angus, dau. of Sir Andrew Sibbald, of Balgony; 3rdly, Marion, dau. of Sir William Baillie, of Lamington, and widow of John, 4th Lord Lindsay of the Byres. He was s. in 1513 by his son, Sir Robert Douglas, of Lochleven, whose son, Thomas, predeceasing him, left by his wife, Elizabeth Boyd, Robert, his grandfather's heir: Margaret, m. to John Anstruther, of Anstruther; Marian, m. to John Lindsay, of Dunrod; and Elizabeth, m. to Alexander Alexander, of Menstrie. Sir Robert Douglas, of Lochleven, who s. his grandfather in 1541, m. Margaret, dau. of John, 4th Lord Erskine, mother by JAMES V. of the Regent Moray, and had, I SIR WILLIAM, of whom as 6th Earl of Morton; 2 Robert, Earl of Buchan, jure uxoris; 3 Sir George, who effected Queen MARY's escape from Lochleven; 1 Euphemia, m. Patrick, 6th Lord Lindsay of the Byres; 2 Janet, m. Sir James Colville, of Easter Wemyss; 3 Catherine, m. David Durie, of Durie.

Sir John Douglas was assassinated by order of Sir David Barclay, of Brechin, in 1350; and Barclay was, by order of his brother, Sir William Douglas, slain in revenge of that act. Sir John's eldest son, SIR JAMES DOUGLAS, of Dalkeith, s. in 1353 to the extensive possessions of his uncle, Sir William. He was distinguished for his learning and accomplishments, had entertained Froissart as a guest, owned a large collection of books, and had borrowed others, which in his will he directed to be returned to their owners. He m. circa 1371, Agnes of Dunbar, dau. of Patrick, Earl of March, and his heroic countess, "Black Agnes" with whom he got Whittingham in East Lothian; 2ndly, Egidia, half-sister of ROBERT II., and widow of Sir James Lindsay, of Crawford, and Sir Hugh Eglinton. He d. 1420, having had issue by his first marriage, JAMES, his successor; William; John; Jacoba, m. Sir James Hamilton, of Cadzow.

SIR JAMES DOUGLAS, of Dalkeith, had in 1401 a charter of the barony of Morton, in Nithsdale, with Mordington and Whittingham, and JAMES I. bestowed on him the then new title of a Lord of Parliament, as Lord Dalkeith. He m. 1st, Lady Elizabeth, dau. of King ROBERT III., by whom he had,

I. William, m. 1421, to Margaret, dau. of Sir William Borthwick, and widow of Sir William of Abernethy; d. v.p. without issue.
II. JAMES, his father's heir.
III. Henry (sometimes styled "of Dalkeith"), had from his father a charter of Borg and other lands in Galloway, held of the Earls of Douglas; m. Margaret, dau. of James, 7th Earl of Douglas, and had a son, Hugh of Borg, who in 1474 renounced to his cousin, the 1st Earl of Morton, all right to Dalkeith except what might accrue to him as heir male of the family.

Lord Dalkeith m. 2ndly, Janet, dau. of Sir William Borthwick (afterwards wife of Sir George Crichton, Earl of Caithness), by whom he had,

IV. Sir William, of Morton and Whittingham, of which lands he obtained the fee in an investiture of 28 Feb. 1439-40 to his father and mother, afterwards confirmed to him In 1474 he renounced his right to Morton to the Earl of Morton. The direct line of his descendants, the Douglases of Whittingham, ended in an heiress, Elizabeth, m. to Alexander Seton, Viscount Kingston, and through her dau. the lineal representation of this branch passed to the Hays of Drummelzier. The male line of Whittingham was continued in Sweden by the descendants of a younger brother. Patrick Douglas of Standingstones, had an only son, Robert, b. 1611, who won distinction in the wars of Gustavus Adolphus, in Germany and Poland, obtained the lands of Stjernorp, Spannerp, etc., in Sweden, was made Baron of Skalby, 1651, Count of Scheningen, 1654; a Field-marshal, 1657. His descendant, now the heir male of the Whittingham branch, is Carl Wilhelm Count Douglas, b. 1824; premier gentilhomme de la Chambre to the King of Sweden, who m. Louise-Catherine-Countess von Langenstein and Gondelsheim, in Baden, and has issue, three sons and three daus.

JAMES DOUGLAS, 2nd Lord Dalkeith, had in his father's lifetime become insane, and was put under curatory in 1441, a circumstance which seems to have been taken advantage of by his brothers and stepmother to acquire rights prejudicial to his infant son. He m. Elizabeth, dau. of Gifford of Sheriffhall, and had, with a dau. Beatrix, m. to William, 1st Earl of Erroll, a son, JAMES DOUGLAS, 3rd Lord Dalkeith, who was made EARL OF MORTON on his marriage with the Princess Joanna, 3rd dau. of JAMES I., which took place soon after 14 March, 1457-8. They had issue, JOHN, 2nd Earl of Morton; James; Janet, m. to Patrick, Earl of Bothwell.

JAMES, 2nd Earl of Morton, s. his father in or before 1504. He m. Janet, dau. of Crichton, of Cranstonriddel; and had, JAMES, 3rd earl; Richard, who m. and had issue, Elizabeth, m. Robert, Lord Keith; and Agnes, m. Alexander, 5th Lord Livingston.

family, which derives its surname from Eggecomb, Milton Abbot, was of great antiquity in Devon, when reign of EDWARD III.,

LIAM DE EGGECOMB, m. Hillaria, dau. and heir of Wil- le Cotehele, of Cotehele, removed to that place, and resided there. He d. 1380, and was s. by his son,

WILLIAM EDGCOMB, Esq., who m. the dau. and heir of Denset. He had a grant, in the 6th HENRY V., with Robert Hethe, of the custody of the lead-mines, with the silver ore therein, which were in Devonshire. He left issue,

PETER EDGECOMB, Esq. who m. Elizabeth, dau. and heir of Richard Holland, Esq. and was father of

SIR RICHARD EDGECOMB, Knt., a person of great eminence in the times of EDWARD IV., RICHARD III., and HENRY VII. In the 7th of the first-mentioned monarch, he served in parliament for Tavistock; and in the same year was escheator of the co. Cornwall, an office then of great trust. He subsequently joined Henry Stafford, Duke of Buckingham, against RICHARD III., and had a narrow escape for his life after the defeat and execution of that nobleman. But making his way into Brittany, he enrolled himself under the banner of the Earl of Richmond, and returning to England, participated in the victory of Bosworth, and received the honour of knighthood from his victorious chief on the field of battle. He was afterwards sworn of the privy council, and appointed comptroller of his household by the new monarch. He obtained, likewise, grants of the castle, honour, &c., of Totness, and the manor of Cornworthy, with various other lands in the co. Devon, of which shire he served the office of sheriff in 1487. Sir Richard was subsequently sent into Ireland, "being a person (observes Sir James Ware) of singular prudence," to administer the oaths of allegiance and obedience as well to the nobility, gentry, and prime officers, as to the commonalty of the realm; and brought over with him 500 armed men. He m. Joan, dau. of Thomas Tremayne, Esq. of Collacomb, and had issue,

The illustrious family of Mowbray derived its descent from Roger de Moribray or Moubray, whose name is found on Brompton's "Liste des Conquerants d'Angleterre," the Roll of Battle Abbey, and other archives, as one leaders of the Norman Army which achieved the co of England.

ROGER DE MOWBRAY, who s. to the Mowbray estat the first of the family to whom a valid writ of summ Parliament is now on record. He was summoned w other peers of the realm in the Parliament held at S bury, 11 EDWARD I., and from that time to 25 Edw Only one writ of summons anterior to the writ of 11 E I., that of 49 HENRY III. is recorded; and the House o recently decided that as that writ was issued by Sir Montfort whilst in rebellion, and as de Montfort's p ings were declared void by Act of Parliament, no p could be created by the writs of 49 HENRY III. Th of 11 EDWARD I. is consequently the earliest w summons on record which could create a dignity peerage. He d. at Ghent in 1298, and was bur Fountains Abbey. By his wife, Rose, the sister of G Earl of Clare, he had a son,

JOHN, Lord Mowbray, who had livery of his f lands, was summoned to Parliament from 1 EDWARD II., and was present in Parliament as of Parliament in 12 EDWARD II. He took part Scotch wars, and was knighted with Prince Edward Edward I. In 6 Edward II. he was made governor city of York, and in the eleventh year of the same governor of Malton and Scarborough Castles. Havi Alice, dau. and co-heir of William, Lord de Braose, h possession upon his father-in-law's death, of the bar Gower and of the Barony of Brember in Sussex, wife's inheritance, without sueing out livery fro Crown, and in consequence of this marriage his descen became Lords Braose of Gower and Brember. John, Mowbray, was one of those who were executed at Y 1322 for having been connected with the rising northern earls against the Despencers, and his estates in consequence seized by the Crown, but no att ensued. By his wife Alice de Braose he had a son,

JOHN, Lord Mowbray, who was of full age at his fa death, and upon the accession of EDWARD III. obt livery of his inheritance. He took part in the w Scotland and France, and was made Governor of Be in 11 EDWARD III. He was summoned to Parliament 1 to 34 EDWARD III., and d. of the plague at Yo 1361. He m. Joan, dau. of Henry, Earl of Lancast whom he had a son and heir,

JOHN, Lord Mowbray, who had livery of his father's in 35 EDWARD III., and was summoned to Parliament 36 to 39 EDWARD III. He was slain near Constanti on his way to the Holy Land in 1368. By his m. Elizabeth, dau. and heir of John, Lord Segrave, and garet, Countess of Norfolk, dau. of Thomas de Broth Earl of Norfolk, and fifth son of EDWARD I., the digni Lord Segrave and the Segrave estates vested in His eldest son by Lady Segrave was

JOHN, Lord Mowbray, 6th Lord Segrave, who was years old at the time of his father's death. He was cr Earl of Nottingham at the Coronation of RICHARD 1377, and he and William de Latimer made clai exercise on that day the office of Almoner, which belonged to their ancestor, William de Beaucham Bedford. He d. under age and unmarried, in 1382 was s. in his family dignities by his brother, THOMAS, Lord Mowbray and Segrave, who was cr Earl of Nottingham in 1382, and was summoned to P ment under that title from 7 to 10 RICHARD II. (138 1386), in which year he was created Earl Marshal, o count of his descent from Thomas de Brotherton, Ea Norfolk. In 12 RICHARD II. he had livery of his land heir of his brother. He was raised to the further dig of Duke of Norfolk in 1397. In the war with Franc was appointed to a naval command, and took part in capture of Brest, and was made the king's lieutenan Calais, Picardy, and Artois. For his services in capacity he received a grant of 200 marks for life, and authorised to bear for his crest a golden leopard, wi coronet of silver. In 1398 he was accused by H Bolingbroke, Earl of Hereford, of having spoken slan ously of the king whom he charged with a desig destroying the principal members of the nobility. Nor denied the accusation, and desired Hereford to prov truth in single combat. The lists were set at Coventr the presence of the king and the peers of the disput but on the eve of the contest the king interposed, forbade the combat. Both Norfolk and Hereford banished, the former for life and the other for ten y

d. of the plague at Venice in 1399. By his first abeth, dau. and heir of John Lord Strange of re, he had no issue. He m. 2ndly, Elizabeth, dau.
eir of Richard FitzAlan, Earl of Arundel and and widow of William Montacute, eldest son of of Salisbury, and by her (who m. 3rdly, Sir Gerard and 4thly, Sir Robert Goushell) he left two sons,
; and John; and two daus. Margaret, the wife of Sir loward; and Isabel, the wife of James Lord Berkeley.

S, Lord Mowbray and Segrave, succeeded his father of Norfolk and Nottingham, and Earl Marshal.
e of Duke of Norfolk was withheld from him upon neous plea that, having been conferred upon him Parliament of 21 RICHARD II., the proceedings in ore avoided by an Act of 1 HENRY IV., the dignity of Norfolk fell under that Act. In 1405 he joined rebellion of Scrope, Archbishop of York, and other against HENRY IV., and in consequence was
; and beheaded at York without a trial. There was ntly no attainder. He married Constance,
r and heir of John Holland, Earl of Huntingdon, Exeter, but dying under age and without issue
heir was his brother.

gnity of Duke of Norfolk. By his wife Katherine, r of Ralph Nevill, Earl of Westmoreland, he had a heir,

Lord Mowbray and Segrave, who in 17 HENRY VI., t as Ambassador to negotiate peace between and France. In 23 HENRY VI., he obtained a conn of the title of Duke of Norfolk conferred on dfather by the charter of 21 RICHARD II. In URD IV. (1461), he was appointed Justice in Eyre of sts south of Trent, and his death occurred in the ar. He married Eleanor, daughter of William Lord ried Elizabeth, daughter of John Talbot, Earl of ury, and died in 1475, leaving a daughter and heir,

LADY MOWBRAY AND SEGRAVE, then six years of
he is styled in her father's inquisition "Domina vbray." In January 1476 she was affianced to , Duke of York, second son of EDWARD IV. He ated Duke of Norfolk and Earl Warren; and rdered in 1483. The Duchess had previously died ge and without issue. By this event the inheritance Mowbrays reverted to the heirs of Margaret and laughters of Thomas de Mowbray, first Duke of , and wives respectively of Sir Robert Howard and ord Berkeley, and the Barony of Mowbray, as well of Segrave and Braose, fell into abeyance between s of Sir Robert Howard and Lord Berkeley.

beyance of the Barony of Mowbray, as well as that of
, was determined by king RICHARD III. in favour of

Lord Howard, the son of Lady Margaret Mowbray
Robert Howard, and the king also created him f Norfolk and Earl Marshal of England, and ed him High Steward of England for his coronation.
ke fell at Bosworth Field, and was attainted. He

s. His son and heir,

AS, Lord Mowbray and Segrave, and Earl of Surrey,
2 HENRY VIII., was created Earl Marshal of Eng-nd in recognition of his victory at Flodden Field in ther received the dignity of Duke of Norfolk. He y restored as heir to his father. He married Elizaaughter and sole heir of Sir Frederick Tilney by e left as his successor his son,

AS, Lord Mowbray and Segrave, Earl of Surrey and f Norfolk. He and his son Henry, Lord Surrey, ied for high treason for bearing the coat of arms of the Confessor. Henry, Earl of Surrey, was executed by his wife, Lady Frances de Vere, daughter of Earl of Oxford, a son Thomas, but the attainder of e of Norfolk was never completed, and the attainder the Earl of Surrey was made void in 1 MARY.
ke was s. in his honours by his grandson,

AS, Lord Mowbray and Segrave, Duke of Norfolk, rshal and Earl of Surrey, who was tried for high in 1572, found guilty, and executed. He married aughter and co-heir of Henry Fitz Alan Earl of Arundel and their only son Philip, Earl of Arundel, by seisin of Arundel Castle and Honor, was in 1581 placed in Parliament as the Premier Earl. He was found guilty of high treason in 1589, and died a prisoner in the Tower of London. By his wife Anne, daughter and co-heir of Thomas, Lord Dacre of the North, he left issue an only son,

THOMAS, who was under age at his father's death. In 1 JAMES I., he was restored in blood as Earl of Arundel and Earl of Surrey, and also to the baronies of which his grandfather Thomas, Duke of Norfolk, had been seised, and in consequence he became Lord Mowbray and Segrave. In 1644 he was created Earl of Norfolk. He m. Lady Alatheia Talbot, daughter and sole heir of Gilbert, seventh Earl of Shrewsbury, who, on the death of her sisters, became Baroness Furnival, Talbot, and Strange. Their eldest son Henry, Lord Howard, was summoned to Parliament in his father's barony of Mowbray on 21 March, 1639-40, and on 16 April, 1640, he was introduced and placed at the head of the Barons' Bench. Thomas, Earl of Arundel and Surrey, was succeeded at his death in 1646 by his said son,

HENRY, Lord Mowbray and Segrave, who died in 1652, leaving by his wife, Lady Elizabeth, daughter of Esmé, Duke of Lennox in Scotland, and Earl of Richmond in England, an eldest son and successor,

THOMAS, Lord Mowbray and Segrave, Earl of Arundel, Surrey, and Norfolk. In 1661 he was restored to the Dukedom of Norfolk. He died abroad and unmarried in 1677, and was s. by his brother, HENRY, Lord Mowbray and Segrave, Duke of Norfolk, Earl Marshal, Earl of Arundel, Surrey, and Norfolk, who was created Baron Howard of Castle Rising in 1669 and Earl of Norwich in 1672.

In 1670 the Lord Berkeley who claimed precedency above all barons then sitting as barons in the House of Lords, quitted precedence to him as Lord Mowbray. He married Lady Anne Somerset, daughter of Edward, Marquess of Worcester, by whom he left as his successor his son,

HENRY, Lord Mowbray and Segrave, Duke of Norfolk, Earl of Arundel, &c., who had been summoned, vitâ patris, in his father's barony of Mowbray and placed at the head of the Barons' Bench. He was elected Knight of the Garter, and on his Garter plate he is styled Premier Duke, Earl and Baron of England. He was Premier Baron as Lord Mowbray and Premier Earl as Earl of Arundel. He married Mary Lady Mordaunt, daughter and heir of Henry, Earl of Peterborough and Lord Mordaunt, but had no issue. He was succeeded on his death in 1701 by his nephew (the eldest son of his brother Lord Thomas Howard),

THOMAS, Lord Mowbray and Segrave, Duke of Norfolk, &c., who married Mary, daughter and heir of Sir Nicholas Shireburn of Stonyhurst, He died without issue in 1732, and was s. by his brother, EDWARD, Lord Mowbray and Segrave, Duke of Norfolk, &c. He married Mary, daughter, and one of the co-heirs of Edward Blount of Blagdon, but had no issue, and died in 1777, when the Dukedom of Norfolk devolved on the heir male of his illustrious house, CHARLES HOWARD, who became 10th Duke (see NORFOLK, D.), and the baronies of Mowbray and Segrave, and those of Howard, Braose of Gower, Greystock, Ferrers of Wemme, Talbot, Strange of Blackmere, Furnival, and Giffard of Brimmesfield, fell into abeyance between Winifred Howard and Anne Howard, the daughters of Philip Howard (the brother of the said Thomas, Duke of Norfolk) who died in 1749, his only son Edward Howard, having died without issue in 1767.

Winifred Howard married William, afterwards the fifteenth Lord Stourton, from whom the present Lord Stourton is descended. Anne Howard married Robert Edward, ninth Lord Petre from whom the present Lord Petre is descended.

The abeyance of the baronies of Mowbray and Segrave, was in 1877 terminated in favour of Alfred Joseph, the nineteenth Lord Stourton, who, upon the determination of the abeyance, became the twenty-third Lord Mowbray and the twenty-fourth Lord Segrave. The House of Lords on July 26th, 1877 resolved that it was proved by the writ of summons addressed to Roger de Mowbray in 11 EDWARD I., and the other evidence adduced on behalf of the petitioner, that the barony of Mowbray, was in the reign of EDWARD I. vested in Roger de Mowbray.

The House came to a similar resolution in regard to the barony of Segrave, and decided that the writs of summons of 49 HENRY III. could not create Peerages, and in consequence that the writ of 11 EDWARD I. is the earliest writ on record to which the creation of a Peerage can be referred. Lord Segrave was summoned 49

Henry III. and was found to be a rebel for his adherence to Simon de Montfort, but was afterwards pardoned. The House, however, referred the creation of his Peerage to the writ of 11 Edward I. It is, therefore, proved that Roger Lord Mowbray was summoned to Parliament by one of the earliest writs which could create a Peerage, and as the Lords Mowbray have always claimed to be the Premier Barons of England and as their right was fully admitted by the Crown in the reigns of Charles I. and Charles II., on the election of the then Lords Mowbray as Knights of the Garter, Lord Mowbray, Segrave, and Stourton, insists that as it has been decided that the writ of summons of the 49 Henry III., under which Lord de Ros is placed in the House of Lords, could not create a Peerage, he is entitled to be placed as the Premier Baron of England.

II. Isabel-Euphane, b. 23 April, 1883.
III. Violet-Florence, b. 10 Sept. 1889.
IV. Aline-Margaret, b. 22 Oct. 1892.

Lineage.

The MUNRO family were in early times vassals of the Earls of Ross, and their lands lie along the north shore of the Cromarty Firth. Their possession of Foulis has been ascribed to a period beyond written record. According to Nisbet, William, Earl of Sutherland, in the reign of Alexander II., granted a charter, "Carissimo et fidelissimo consanguineo, Georgio Munro de Foulis."

ROBERT MUNRO, representative of the family 1341-69, is said to have been slain in a feud in 1369, along with a large number of his clan. His descendant,

HECTOR MUNRO, of Foulis (who d. 1541), m. 1st, Katherine, dau. of Sir Kenneth Mackenzie of Kintail; 2ndly, Katherine, dau. of Roderick Macleod of Lewis, widow of Donald Macdonald, of Slate, and had by his first marriage,

ROBERT MUNRO, of Foulis, m. Margaret, dau. of Sir Alexander Dunbar of Westfield, sheriff of Moray, by whom he had,

I. ROBERT, his successor.
II. Hector, of Contulich and Kildermory, father of JOHN, of Kildermory, who was s. by his son, HUGH, of Fyrish, father of ALEXANDER MONRO, D.D., elected Principal of the University of Edinburgh, 9 Dec. 1685, but displaced 26 Sept. 1690, for declining to take the oaths of allegiance to WILLIAM and MARY. He was a strenuous Non-Juror, and wrote various pamphlets in defence of his principles. On his ejection from Edinburgh, Dr. Monro settled in England. It may be noted that, on 24th Oct. 1688, a congé d'élire issued in favour of Dr. Monro to the dean and chapter of Argyll; but it does not appear that he was elected bishop of that see. He left a son, James Monro, entered at Balliol College, Oxford, 8 July, 1699, who took his degree of M.D. 9 July, 1722, and was physician, Bethlehem Hospital, from 1728 to 1752, and was s. by his son,

Dr. John Monro,* who d. at Hadley, Middlesex, 27 Dec. 1791, leaving by Elizabeth, his wife, sister of Sir Culling Smith, Bart., three sons,

1 James, who commanded the E. I. Company's ship, "Houghton." He m. 1st, 19 June, 1786, his cousin, Elizabeth-Juliana, youngest dau. of the Rev. Thomas Monro, rector of Burgate and Wortham, co. Suffolk, and by her (who d. in Jan. 1804) had a large family, of which were,

Frederick, lieut. R.A. (of Cheltenham), m. his cousin, Sarah, dau. of Thomas Monro, Esq., M.D., and d. s. p. 1879.

* On failure of the heirs male of the body of the present baronet, the heirs male of the body of Dr. John Monro, of Bethlehem Hospital, are next in succession to the Foulis estate, under the entail executed by Sir Harry Munro, Bart., 28 June, 1776.

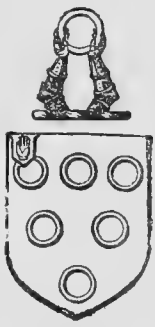
MUSGRAVE OF EDENHALL.



Musgrave, Sir Richard-George, Bart. of Edenhall, co. Cumberland, D.L. cos. Cumberland and Westmorland, late lieut. 4th batt. Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders, b. 11 Oct. 1872; s. his father as 12th bart. 1881; m. 9 Feb. 1895, Hon. Eleanor-Harbord, 7th dau. of 5th Baron Suffield.

Lineage.

This ancient family deduces its pedigree from one of the companions in arms of William I., who obtained from the Conqueror a grant of Scaleby Castle, co. Cumberland. Camden in his Britannia, speaking of the two villages called Musgrave, in Westmorland, describes them as the places "which gave name to the warlike family of the Musgraves."

Thomas de Musgrave was returned to parliament by the co. of Westmorland in the reign of Edward III., and was one of the commanders in the van of the English army that gave battle to, and totally defeated David, King of Scotland, at Durham, 20th Edward III., was summoned to parliament as a Baron from 25 November, 1350, to 4 October, 1373. His lordship appears to have been generally employed upon the borders in resisting the incursion of the Scotch. He was made (21st Edward III.) governor of Berwick-upon-Tweed; and sole justiciar through all the lands in Scotland, whereof the king had then possession. He was afterwards sheriff of Yorkshire and governor of the castle of York. His lordship m. Isabel, widow of Robert, son of Robert, Lord Clifford, and dau. of Thomas, Lord Berkeley, and was s. by his son,

Sir Thomas de Musgrave, Knt., M.P. for the co. York in the 37th and 43rd of Edward III., sheriff of Cumberland in the 16th Richard II., and member for Westmorland in the 1st of Henry IV. He d. in 1409, when Hartley Castle and Musgrave devolved upon his son and heir,

Sir Richard Musgrave, Knt., who left by Elizabeth, his wife, a son and heir,

Thomas de Musgrave, who m. Joan, dau. of William, Lord Dacre, and d. 1447, leaving a son, Lord Napier, an eminent military commander, was the son of Major Charles-Frederick Napier, R.A. (who d. March, 1812), by Catherine his wife, dau. of Codrington Carrington, Esq. of The Chapel, and Carrington, Barbados. His lordship, having entered the Bengal engineers in 1828, was highly distinguished in the Sutlej campaigns, at the siege of Moultan, at Goojerat, and at the capture of Lucknow, in 1858. The same year he defeated the Sepoy rebels at the battle of Powree, was made a K.C.B., and received the thanks of parliament. He again received the thanks of parliament in 1861, for his conduct in the operations which led to the capture of Pekin. He was a member of the Council of India from 1861 to 1865, when he became commander-in-chief of the Bombay army, with the rank of general. He was appointed in May, 1867, to command the expedition to Abyssinia, which resulted in complete success, and ended with the storming of Magdäla and the death of King Theodore. The general was, in reward, made a G.C.B., and raised to the peerage as Lord Napier of Magdäla, 17 July, 1868. An Act of Parliament, viz., the 31 and 32 Vic., cap. 91, was passed 31 July, 1868, granting an annuity of £2,000 to his lordship and his next surviving heir male, for the term of their natural lives. Lineage.

For lineage previous to John Napier of Merchiston, the inventor of Logarithms (b. 1550, d. 1617), refer to article Napier and Ettrick, Baron.

Archibald Napier, eldest son of the said John Napier, of Merchiston, was created a Baronet, 2 March 1627, and elevated to the peerage of Scotland, 4 May of the same year. On the death of his grandson Archibald, 3rd baron, his male line terminated, when the barony passed as stated in the lineage of Lord Napier, and the baronetage descended to his heir male general, whose ancestry we will now de

Robert Napier, of Culcreuch, Stirlingshire, 2nd son of the said John Napier, of Merchistoun, was b. in 1580 after his father's death edited his works. By his first wife had issue,

The 5th son of the Rev. Edmund Nelson,

HORATIO NELSON, was born at the Parsonage house, Burnham Thorpe, Norfolk, 29 Sept. 1758, and received the name of Horatio, after his godfather and relative, Horatio, 2nd Lord Walpole, of Wolterton, 1st Earl of Orford, of the second creation. He was educated at the high school of Norwich, and at a school at North Walsham. In 1771 he joined, through the interest of his uncle and patron, Captain Maurice Suckling, that captain's ship, the "Raisonnable," 64 guns. This was the commencement of Nelson's glorious naval career, the details of which belong to general, rather than to genealogical history, and need not be recapitulated here. His most remarkable achievements were the Battles of the Nile, Copenhagen, and Trafalgar. After the victory of the Nile, he was created, 6 Nov. 1798, BARON NELSON, of the Nile, and of Burnham Thorpe, in the co. of Norfolk. Parliament decreed him a vote of thanks, and 2,000*l.* a-year for his own life, and the lives of his two immediate successors. He received from the parliament of Ireland 1,000*l.* a-year. The East India Company also voted him 10,000*l.* After the ATTACK ON COPENHAGEN, 2 April, 1801, and the destruction of the Danish ships and defences, which completely broke up the Northern Confederacy, Nelson received the thanks of the Houses of Lords and Commons, and was created, 22 May, 1801, Viscount Nelson, of the Nile, and of Burnham Thorpe, in Norfolk; and, subsequently, 18 Aug. 1801, Baron Nelson of the Nile, and of Hilborough, co. Norfolk, with remainder, failing his heirs male, to his father and his heirs male, and failing them to the heirs male of his sister, Mrs. Bolton, and failing them to the heirs male of his other sister, Mrs. Matcham. In Sept. of the same year, he also received the British royal licence to accept for himself and his heirs the title of Duke of Bronté, with the fief of the duchy annexed. The BATTLE OF TRAFALGAR, where Nelson gained a great and glorious naval victory—the greatest and most glorious that England ever won, occurred on 21 Oct. 1805. During the action Nelson was mortally wounded in the left shoulder by a musket ball fired from the mizen-top of the French ship, the "Redoutable," and died a few hours after. The "Victory" carried his body to England, and his remains lay in state for three days in the Painted Hall of Greenwich Hospital; and again at the Admiralty; and on 9 Jan. 1806, they were honoured with a public funeral, and deposited in St. Paul's Cathedral. His lordship m. 22 March, 1787, Frances Herbert, dau. of William Woodward, Esq., Senior Judge of the Isle of Nevis, and relict of Josiah Nisbet, M.D., of the Isle of Nevis (a scion of the family of Nisbet, of Carfine, Lanarkshire), but by her (who had 2,000*l* a-year settled on her by the 46 GEO. III., cap. 3, and who d. 4 May, 1831) he had no issue, and consequently all his British honours, save the last created barony, became EXTINCT; but that, in accordance with the limitation, devolved, as well as the Dukedom of Bronté, upon his only surviving brother,

* General Count Daniel Mahony, was brother of Colonel Dermot O'Mahony of Rosbrin, who fought and fell for King JAMES II, at Aughrim. Daniel, then a captain in the guards, followed JAMES into France, and joined his court at St. Germains. Daniel Mahony proved himself one of the best soldiers of his time. JAMES II knighted him for his gallant conduct at Cremona. He obtained, for the good service he did in France, Spain and Italy, the title of Count from LOUIS XIV. Mahony won further distinction at the battle of Almanza; he was a general in the Spanish service, and was commander of the Spanish troops in Sicily. His son, James-Joseph Count Mahony, was a lieut.-gen. and commander of the cavalry in the kingdom of Naples, and knight of all the Neapolitan Orders. He d. in 1757. He and his dau. Cecilia, as the son and the grand-dau. of a natural born subject, were natural born subjects of the crown of Great Britain.

† The House of Giustiniani is ancient and illustrious. Peter Giustiniani, a son of the Giustiniani of Venice, established himself as the Sovereign Lord of Chioggia, a sovereignty held for several generations by his family. Mark Giustiniani, a direct descendant of Peter, became a member of the Republic of Genoa; and his representative, in 1362, received from the Emperor the investiture of the Island of Chio. The family, being driven from Chio by the Turks, settled in Rome. In the 22 Nov. 1603, Pope PAUL V., by diploma of that date created Vincent Giustiniani a Roman Marquess, reciting in the diploma his descent from the Princess Theodora, and the great victories achieved by his family, as well on land as on the e Ducal and illustrious Howards stand, next to Blood Royal, at the head of the Peerage of England, represent a family undoubtedly of Saxon origin. nt enquiries unable us to trace the ancestors of Howards to a period much more remote than Sir am Dugdale thought possible, and to establish the gree by undoubted evidence. Ingulph and Matthew s concur in stating that Howard, or Hereward, was g in the reign of King Edgar, 957 to 973, and that he a kinsman of Duke Oslac, and that his son, Leofric, the father of Hereward, who was banished by the ueror. The very ancient book of the Church of Ely, storia Ecclesiæ Eliensis," entirely confirms the state- t. It appears that Hereward was subsequently allowed turn, and it is certain that his family retained Wigen- and other portions of their inheritance in Norfolk. ward's grandson, Hereward, or Howard, and his wife, urga, in the reign of Henry the Second granted a cate of land in Terrington, in Norfolk, to the church en (Lynn), and directed that prayers should be said for souls of Hereward, his father, and of Hereward the ished, or the Exile, his grandfather. Robert Howard, son of Hereward, was seised of Wigenhall, Terrington, other estates in Norfolk, and was the father of John eword, or Howard, of Wigenhall, who, by Lucy Ger- d, his wife, was the father of Sir William Howard Chief Justice of the Common Pleas, from 1297 to 1308, had large possessions in Wigenhall, Norfolk. He m. twice: 1st, Alice, dau. and heir of Sir Edward Fitton, Knt., by whom he had,

I. John, his successor. II. William.

and 2ndly, Alice, dau. of Sir Robert Ufford, Knt. Of this second marriage there was no issue. Sir William was s. by his elder son,

Sir John Howard, Knt. of Wigenhall, one of the gentlemen of the bedchamber to Edward I. He m. Joan, sister of Richard de Cornwall, and dying in 1331, was s. by his son,

Sir John Howard, Knt., who was constituted, in the 9th of Edward III., admiral and capt. of the king's navy in the north; and in the following year had an assignation of £153 7*s.* 6*d.* for the wages of himself, with his men-at-arms, &c., in that service. And the same year, having affairs to transact beyond the seas, the king granted him his protection, dated 24 April, 1337, to be in force till the 1st of Aug. following. Sir John was sheriff of Norfolk in 1345. He m. Alice, dau. of Sir Robert de Boys, and sister and heir of Sir Robert de Boys, of Furseld, in Norfolk, by which alliance the whole inheritance of the Boyses came into the Howard family. Sir John was s. by his grandson,

Sir John Howard (only surviving son of Sir Robert Howard, by Margery, dau. of Robert, Lord Scales), who was sheriff of the cos. of Essex and Hertford in the reigns of Henry IV. and Henry V. He m. 1st, Margaret, dau. and heir of Sir John Plaiz, of Tofte, in Norfolk, and of Stansted Mountfichet, in Essex, by whom he had issue,

I. John (Sir), who d. in the Holy Land in 1409 during his father's lifetime, leaving, by his wife, Joan, dau. of Sir Richard Walton, Knt., and sister and heir of John Walton, Esq. of Wyvenhoe, in Essex, an only dau. and heir,

1 Elizabeth, who m. John Vere, Earl of Oxford; and through this lady the Veres acquired the Barony of Plaiz, and that of de Scales (see Burke's Extinct Peerage).

I. Margaret, m. 1st, to Constantine Clifton, of Buckenham Castle, Norfolk; and 2ndly, to Sir George Talbot.

Sir John m. 2ndly, Alice, dau. and heir of Sir William Tendring, of Tendring, and had two other sons, Robert (Sir), his successor.

Henry, who had, by gift of his father, the manors of Teringhampton, East Walton, Bockenham, Wigenhall, and other lands in Norfolk. He m. Mary, dau. of Sir Henry Hussey, and left a dau and heir, Elizabeth, m. to Henry Wentworth, of Codham, Essex.

Sir John d. in 1436, and was s. by his elder surviving son,

Sir Robert Howard, Knt., who m. Lady Margaret, elder dau. of Thomas de Mowbray, Duke of Norfolk, by Elizabeth his wife, dau. and co-heir of Richard Fitzalan, Earl of Arundel, and cousin and co-heir of John Mowbray, Duke of Norfolk. By this marriage the inheritance of those great families became, eventually, in part vested in the house of Howard; and by Isabel, the other co-heir, partly in the house of Berkeley. (The above-mentioned Thomas de Mowbray, Duke of Norfolk, was son and heir of John, Lord Mowbray, by Elizabeth, dau. and heir of John, Lord Segrave, and of Margaret Plantagenet his wife, dau. and heir of Thomas Plantagenet, surnamed De Brotherton, Earl of Norfolk, and marshal of England, the eldest son of Edward I., by his 2nd wife, Margaret, dau. of Philip le Hardi, King of France. This Thomas de Brotherton, Earl of Norfolk, was created Earl Marshal, 10 Feb. 1315, being the first so designated, his predecessors having been simply styled marshals), Sir Robert Howard had by this illustrious alliance, two daus.,

Margaret, m. to Wm. Daniel, Baron of Rathwire, in Ireland;

Catherine, m. (2nd wife) to Edward Nevill, Lord of Abergavenny:

and an only son,

Sir John Howard, an eminent Yorkist, not only on account of his princely birth (maternally) and magnificent fortune, but from the stations of high trust which at different periods had devolved upon him. After distinguishing himself very early in life in the French wars of Henry VI., Sir John was constituted by Edward IV., in 1461, constable of the castle of Norwich, appointed sheriff of the cos. of Norfolk and Suffolk, and granted some of the forfeited manors of James Butler, Earl of Wiltshire, in England, and of Ormonde, in Ireland. In 1468, being treasurer of the king's household, Sir John Howard obtained a grant of the whole benefit that should accrue to the king by coinage of money in the city and Tower of London, or elsewhere in the realm of England, so long as he should continue in that office. In 1470, when he was summoned to parliament under the title of Lord Howard, he was made captain-general of all the king's forces at sea for resisting the attempts of the Lancastrians, then rallying under Nevill,

Earl of Warwick, the Duke of Clarence, and others. In 1471, his lordship was constituted deputy-governor of Calais and the marches adjacent; and his summons to parliament as a Baron continued until he was created Earl Marshal of England, and DUKE OF NORFOLK, 28 June, 1483, when his son and heir, Thomas Howard, was created Earl of Surrey. The duke had been previously invested with the insignia of the Garter. As Earl-Marshal, his grace was empowered (in the king's presence or absence) to bear a golden staff, tipped at each end with black, the upper part thereof to be adorned with the royal arms, and the lower with those of his own family; and for the better support of the dignity of the said office, he obtained a grant to himself, and his heirs for ever, of £20 annually, payable half-yearly, out of the fee-farm rent of Ipswich, in Suffolk. His grace was subsequently constituted lord-admiral of England, Ireland, and Aquitaine, for life, and obtained grants of divers manors and lordships in the cos of Suffolk, Kent, Cambridge, Cornwall, Somerset, and Wilts. But he did not long enjoy these great possessions; for the next year, being with RICHARD, at Bosworth Field, he fell in leading the van of that prince's army. His grace was warned by some of his friends to refrain from attending his sovereign to the field; and the night previous to the battle the following distich was set upon his gate:

"Jockey of Norfolk, be not too bold,
For Dickon thy master is bought and sold."

Yet he would not desert his King, Richard; but as he had faithfully lived under him, so he manfully died by his side. His grace m. 1st, Katherine, dau. of William, Lord Moleyns, by whom he had issue, THOMAS, Earl of Surrey.

Anne, m. to Sir Edmund Gorges, of Wraxhall, Somersetshire, K.B.
Isabel, m. to Sir Robert Mortimer.
Jane, m. to John Timperley, Esq. of Hintlesham, in Suffolk.
Margaret, m. to Sir John Windham, of Crownthorpe and Fellbrigg, in Norfolk.

His grace m. 2ndly, Margaret, dau. of Sir John Chedworth, Knt., by whom he had one dau.,

Catherine, m. to John Bourchier, Lord Berners.

The duke was attainted by parliament, 7 Nov. 1485, when all his honours became forfeited; while his only son,

THOMAS, Earl of Surrey, being also attainted, lost his earldom. His lordship was, however, after suffering an imprisonment of three years in the Tower, restored in 1489, and created Duke of Norfolk and earl-marshal, 1 Feb. 1514, installed a Knight of the Garter, and nominated lord-treasurer. This nobleman was a distinguished military commander, and celebrated, as Lord Surrey, for the victory he achieved over the Scottish monarch at Flodden, in which that prince (JAMES IV.) fell, 9 Sept. 1513. His grace m. 1st, 30 April, 1472, Elizabeth, dau. and heir of Sir Frederick Tilney, of Boston, co. Lincoln, Knt., and widow of Sir Humphrey Bourchier, K.B., son of John, Lord Berners, by whom (who d. 4 April, 1497) he had, with other issue,

I. THOMAS, created EARL OF SURREY in the duke's lifetime.
II. Edward, K.G., who acquired great eminence in arms temp. HENRY VII. and HENRY VIII., and was made king's standard-bearer for life, and admiral of his Fleets by the latter monarch: in which capacity he lost his life on boarding a French vessel off Brest, in action, 25 April, 1513.

II. Muriel, m. 1st, to John Grey, Viscount Lisle, and afterwards to Sir Thomas Knevet, Knt. of Bokenham Castle.

His grace m. 2ndly, 17 Aug. 1497, Agnes, dau. of Hugh Tilney, Esq., and sister and heir of Sir Philip Tilney, Knt., and had by her, who d. in May, 1545, V. William, ancestor of the Earls of Effingham.

VI. Thomas, who, aspiring to the hand of Lady Margaret Douglas, dau. of MARGARET, Queen of Scotland, and niece of HENRY VIII., was attainted of treason, and d. a prisoner in the Tower of London, in 1536.
III. Anne, m. to John Vere, Earl of Oxford.
IV. Dorothy, m. to Edward Stanley, Earl of Derby.

Lineage.

"Touching this family," says Sir William Dugdale, "which assumed the surname from the lordship of Compton, co. Warwick, certain I am it is very ancient, for of the name there were some in the same county in King Henry the Second's time."

Sir William Compton, Knt. (son of Edmund de Compton, and grandson of Robert de Compton, who d. 1840), having been employed in his youth about the person of Henry VIII. when Duke of York, obtained the confidence of that monarch, and was subsequently his companion in the tournament and battle. Sir William filled the offices of chief-gentleman of the bedchamber, usher of the Black Rod, constable of Sudley Castle, and constable of the castle of Gloucester; and after the battle of Spurs, in which he took a distinguished part, was constituted chancellor of Ireland for life (the duties he performed by deputy). He was with Henry VIII. at the Field of the Cloth of Gold; in 1522 went on a special embassy to the Emperor Charles V.; and accompanied the Earl of Surrey in his invasion of Scotland. This great man, one of the most eminent of his time, had estates in twenty counties in England. He m. Werburge, dau. and heir of Sir John Brereton, Knt., widow of Sir Francis Cheyne, Knt., and heir of her mother, who was sister and heir of Sir William Berkeley, Knt. He d. 31 May, 1528, and was s. by his only son,

Peter Compton, who m. Anne, dau. of George Talbot, Earl of Shrewsbury, and heir of her mother, Elizabeth, dau. and heir of Sir Richard Walden, of Erif (Erith), in Kent; and dying in minority, was s. by his only son,

Sir Henry Compton, Knt. of Compton Wynyates, co. Warwick, who was summoned to parliament, 8 May, 1572, as Baron Compton, of Compton. He m. 1st, Frances, dau. of Francis, Earl of Huntingdon, by whom he had issue, William, his successor.

Thomas (Sir), m. Mary, Countess of Buckingham, relict of Sir George Villiers, Knt.
Margaret, m. to Henry, Lord Mordaunt.

He m. 2ndly, Anne, dau. of Sir John Spencer, of Althorp, and widow of William, Lord Monteagle, and had another son, Henry (Sir), K.B. of Brambleteigh, m. 1st, Cecille, dau. of Robert Sackville, Earl of Dorset; and 2ndly, Mary, dau. of the Hon. Sir George Browne, Knt., and widow of Thomas Paston, of Thorpe. By both wives he had issue.

His lordship, characterized by Camden as "a person of fine wit and solid judgment," d. 1589, and was s. by his son,

William, 2nd lord, K.B., lord president of the Marches and dominion of Wales, who was created Earl of Northampton, 2 Aug. 1618, and elected a knight of the Garter 25 Sept. 1628. On the 21st of the following April the earl rode to his installation from Salisbury House, in the Strand, to Windsor Castle, with such splendour and gallantry, and exhibited so brilliant a cortége, being attended by nearly a hundred persons, that a vote of thanks was decreed to him by the Chapter of the Order. His lordship m. in 1594, Elizabeth, dau. and heir of Sir John Spencer, Knt., lord-mayor of London in 1593, and by her had issue, Spencer, his successor.

Elizabeth, m. to Robert, Earl of Nithsdale.
Anne, m. to Ulick, Marquess of Clanricarde; and d. s. p.

The earl d. 24 June, 1630; and was s. by his only son,

Spencer, 2nd earl, K.B.; b. in May, 1601; who had been summoned to parliament in his father's lifetime, as Baron Compton. This nobleman, one of the most heroic of the Cavalier commanders, fell at the battle of Hopton Heath, near Stafford, 19 March, 1642-3. His lordship m. in 1621, Mary, dau. of Sir Francis Beaumont, and had issue,

I. James, his successor.
II. Charles (Sir), a distinguished and gallant cavalier leader. Sir Charles was with his father at Edgehill and Hopton Heath, but his most celebrated exploit was the surprise of Beeston Castle, in Cheshire, which he effected in disguise, attended by six followers only, and he so far succeeded as to possess himself of the outworks, to cut down the drawbridge, to seize the governor's troop horse, and to make prisoners of thirty soldiers in their beds, but for want of being succoured, he was forced to retreat. Sir Charles d. Nov. 1661.
III. William (Sir), likewise an eminent cavalier leader, d. in 1663.
IV. Spencer (Sir), accompanied King Charles into exile; and d. at Bruges, unm. in 1659.

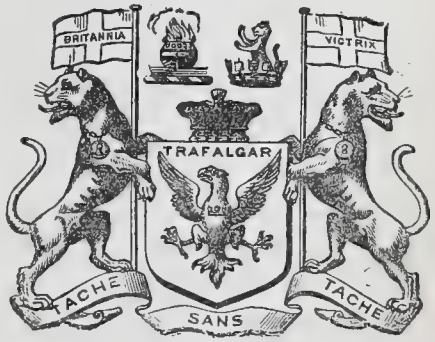
NORTHESK.



NORTHESK, EARL OF (David-John Carnegie), and Baron Rosehill and Inglismaldie, in Scotland, D.L. co. Forfar, Capt. 3rd batt. Gloucestershire regt., A.D.C. to Governor of Victoria, b. 1 Dec. 1865; s. his father as 10th earl, 1891; m. 3 Feb. 1894, Elizabeth-Boyle, eldest dau. of Maj.-Gen. George-Skene Hallowes, late comm. King's Own Scottish Borderers.

Lineage.

In the reign of King DAVID II., Walter Maule granted to John Balinhard, a charter of the lands of Carnegie, in the Barony of Panmure, co. Forfar, and thence the said John assumed the surname of CARNEGIE. From him descended

Sir Robert Carnegie, of Kinnaird, who obtained very considerable territorial grants between the years 1535 and 1563. Sir Robert was one of the senators of the College of Justice, and ambassador to France in 1551. He d. Jan. 1565, leaving a large family; the 2nd son of which

David Carnegie, of Panbride, m. Elizabeth, dau. and heir of William Ramsay, of Coluthie, by whom he acquired that and other estates. He was, according to Archbishop Spottiswood, "a wise, peaceable, and sober man, in good credit and estimation with the king, and taken into the Privy Council for his skill and knowledge in civil affairs." In 1595, he was constituted one of the eight commissioners of the Treasury, called Octavians, and dying in 1598, left by his 1st wife, mentioned above, two daus.; and by a 2nd, Eupheme, dau. of Sir John Wemyss, of Wemyss, four sons and three daus., of the two elder of whom we have more immediately to treat:

David (the elder), his successor, was created Lord Carnegie, of Kinnaird, 14 April, 1616, and Earl of Southesk, 22 June, 1633. (See title Southesk.)

Sir John Carnegie (2nd son of David, of Panbride), obtained from his father the lands of Aithie, Cuickstoun, &c., in the co. of Forfar, of which he had a charter, 1 March, 1595-6, and was elevated to the peerage 20 April, 1639, as Lord Lour; and advanced, 1 Nov. 1647, to the dignity of Earl of Ethie, which titles his lordship exchanged, after the Restoration, for those of Baron Rosehill, of Rosehill, and Earl of Northesk. Lineage.

The house of Percy was founded in England by one of the Norman chieftains (William de Percy), who accompanied William the Conqueror in 1066, and it derives its name from the village of Percy, near Villedieu. The family of Percy, of Normandy, deduced its pedigree from Geoffrey (son of Mainfred, a Danish chieftain), who assisted Rollo, in 912, in subjugating that principality, and aquired considerable possessions there.

William de Percy being in high favour with William the Conqueror, obtained, according to Madox, in his Baronia Anglica, a barony of thirty knights' fees from that monarch in his new dominions, and thus became a feudal lord of the realm from the Conquest. This lord, William de Percy, who was distinguished among his contemporaries by the addition of als Gernons (William with the Whiskers), whence his posterity have constantly borne the name of Algernon, restored, or rather refounded, the famous abbey of St. Hilda, in Yorkshire, of which his brother, Serlo de Percy, became first prior. Accompanying, however, Duke Robert in the first crusade, 1096, he died at Mountjoy, near Jerusalem, the celebrated eminence whence the pilgrims of the cross first viewed the holy city, leaving four sons and two daus., by his wife, Emma de Port, a lady of Saxon descent, whose lands were amongst those bestowed upon him by the Conqueror; and, according to an ancient writer, "he wedded hyr that was very heire to them, in discharging of his conscience." His lordship was s. in his feudal rights and possessions by his eldest son,

Alan de Percy, 2nd baron, surnamed The Great Alan; who m. Emma, dau. of Gilbert de Gaunt (which Gilbert was son of Baldwin, Earl of Flanders, and nephew of Queen Maud, wife of William the Conqueror), and was s. by his eldest son,

William de Percy, 3rd baron, at whose decease the eldest branch of the first race of Percys, from Normandy, became extinct in the male line, and their great inheritance devolved upon his lordship's two daus. (by Alice de Tunbridge, dau. of Richard, Earl of Clare, who was usually styled De Tunbridge, from his castle of that name) the Ladies Maude and Agnes de Percy, successively, Maude de Percy, the elder, was 1st wife of William de Newburgh, Earl of Warwick, by whom (who d. in the Holy Land, A.D. 1184) she had no issue. Her ladyship d. in 1204-5, and then the whole possessions of the Percys descended to the family of her sister.

Agnes de Percy, who m. Josceline, of Lovain, brother of Queen Adeliza, 2nd wife of Henry I., and son of Godfrey Barbatus, Duke of Lower Brabant, and Count of Brabant, who was descended from the Emperor Charlemagne. Her ladyship, it is stated, would only consent, however, to this great alliance upon condition that Josceline should adopt either the surname or arms of Percy; the former of which, says the old family tradition, he accordingly assumed, and retained his own paternal coat, in order to perpetuate his claim to the principality of his father, should the elder line of the reigning duke, at any period, become extinct. The matter is thus stated in the great old pedigree at Sion House: "The ancient arms of Hainault this Lord Jocelyn retained, and gave his children the surname of Percy." Of this illustrious alliance there were several children, of whom,

I. Henry de Percy, the eldest son, who appears to have died before his mother, m. Isabel, dau. of Adam de Brus, Lord of Skelton, with whom he had the manor of Levington, for which he and his heirs were to repair to Skelton Castle every Christmas-day, and to lead the lady of the castle from her chamber to the chapel to mass, and thence to her chamber again, and after dining with her to depart. This Henry left two sons,

1 William, of whom presently.
2 Henry, ancestor of the Percys of Hesset, Sussex.

xi. Richard de Percy, the youngest son of Agnes and Joscelline, got possession of the entire property of his aunt, Maud, Countess of Warwick, and even of a great proportion of that of his mother, and retained the same during the principal part of his life; at length, subsequently to infinite litigation, it was settled between him and his nephew, William de Percy, to whom the inheritance belonged, after a solemn hearing before the king in person, 6 July, 1234 (18th Henry III.), that the estates should be divided into equal portions between the parties during Richard's life; and that, after his death, all the ancient patrimony of the Percy family should devolve upon his nephew aforesaid, a small reservation having been made for Richard's son and heir, Henry de Percy. This Richard de Percy continued for the whole of his life at the head of the family, and enjoyed all its baronial rights. He was one of those powerful feudal lords who took up arms, in 1215, against King John, and having a principal hand in extorting the Great Charter of English freedom, was chosen one of the twenty-five guardians to see the Magna Charta duly observed. He d. about 1244, and then his nephew,

William de Percy, came into full possession of all those rights and properties which had been usurped at the decease of his mother, but did not live long to enjoy them. He d. in 1245, and was s. by his son (by his 2nd wife, Elena, dau. of Ingelram de Baliol, by whom he acquired, in dower, Dalton, afterwards called Dalton Percy, in the Bishopric of Durham),

Henry de Percy, who m. Alianore, dau. of John Plantagenet, Earl of Warren and Surrey; and dying in 1272, was s. by his only surviving son,

Henry de Percy, 9th feudal lord, who was summoned to parliament from 6 Feb. 1299 (27th Edward I) to 20 July, 1315 (8th Edward II.). This nobleman obtained, 19 Nov. 1309, from Anthony Beck, Bishop of Durham, by purchase, a grant of the Barony of Alnwick, co. Northumberland. His lordship was one of the great barons who subscribed, in 1391, the celebrated letter to Pope Boniface VIII. upon the attempt of his holiness to interpose in the affairs of the kingdom, intimating "That their king was not to answer in judgment, for any rights of the crown of England, before any tribunal under Heaven, &c., and that, by the help of God, they would resolutely, and with all their force, maintain against all men." He d. in 1315, and was s. by his son, Henry de Percy, 2nd Lord Percy of Alnwick. This nobleman had a grant from the crown, in the 2nd of Edward III., of the reversion of the Barony and Castle of Warkworth, &c. He had summons to parliament from 1322 to the time of his death, 26 Feb. 1351-2, when he was s. by his eldest son (by Idonia, dau. of Robert, Lord Clifford).

Henry de Percy, 3rd Lord Percy of Alnwick, who, in the lifetime of his father, had participated in the glories of Crecy (26 Aug. 1346). His lordship m. 1st, in her ladyship's 14th year, 1334, the Lady Mary Plantagenet, dau. of Henry, Earl of Lancaster, which Henry was son of Edmund, Earl of Lancaster, Leicester, &c., 2nd son of Henry III. By this lady (who d. 2 Sept. 1362) his lordship had two sons,

Lineage.

SIR DAVID LE BRUN OR BROWNE had large possessions in Leinster and Connaught granted to him after the battles of Athenry, in 1316, and Dundalk in 1318, in which he was engaged, under Richard, 4th Lord Athenry, and his brother, Sir John Birmingham, 1st Earl of Louth. He and his son, Aymer, built the castle of Carra Browne, in Oranmore, near Galway; but the family settled at Bally David, near Athenry, and did not finally remove to Carra Browne till about 1442.

DOMINICK BROWNE, 7th in descent from Aymer, m. about 1565, Mary, only dau. and heir of Maurice Prendergast, of Castle Macgarrett, co. Mayo, and thus the Mayo estates came into the Browne family

SIR DOMINICK BROWNE, 9th in descent from Aymer, was knighted by Lord Wentworth, afterwards Earl of Strafford, in 1620. His son, GEOFFREY, was one of the envoys from the Confederates to Queen HENRIETTA, in 1647, and afterwards to the Duke of Lorraine, in 1650. He was pillaged of a considerable part of his estates under Cromwell, and forced to remove to Mayo, where the family have since resided at Castle Macgarrett. His sons, DOMINICK and STEPHEN, each held a regiment in King JAMES's service at Aughrim. Colonel Browne's son, Geoffrey, planted most extensively at Castle Macgarrett, in 1694. 3 John earl d. 6 Sept. 1405, and was s. by his elder son,

JAMES, 4th Earl of Ormonde, who was called The White Earl, and esteemed for his learning. His lordship prevailed upon HENRY V. to create a King-of-Arms in Ireland, by the title of Ireland King-of-Arms (altered by EDWARD VI. to Ulster King-of-Arms), and he gave lands for ever to the Heralds College, London. He was appointed Lord Deputy of Ireland 1405, and Lord Lieutenant 1420, 1425, and 1442. In 1440 he had a grant of the temporalities of the see of Cashel for ten years after the death of the Archbishop, Richard O'Hedian. His lordship m. 1st, Joan Beauchamp, dau. of William, Lord Bergavenny, K.G., by whom he had issue,

I. JAMES, 5th earl.

The earl m. 2ndly, Lady Joan FitzGerald (widow of Jenico Grey), dau. and heir of Gerald, 5th Earl of Kildare, by whom (who d. July, 1452) he had no issue. He d. 22 Aug. 1452, and was s. by his eldest son,

JAMES, 5th Earl of Ormonde, K.G., b. 24 Nov. 1420, who was created by HENRY VI., 8 July, 1449, for his fidelity to the Lancastrian interest, Earl of Wiltshire, in the peerage of England. In 1451 he was made lord-deputy of Ireland; and the next year, succeeding his father in the title of ORMONDE, was appointed lord-lieut. for ten years. In 1454, he was constituted LORD-HIGH-TREASURER OF ENGLAND, and made a knight of the Garter, 1459. He m. 1st, Lady Amicia FitzAlan, dau. of John, 15th Earl of Arundel, K.G., Duke of Touraine, in France, and 2ndly, Lady Eleanor Beaufort, dau. of Edmund, Duke of Somerset, K.G. (which lady m. 2ndly, Sir Robert Spencer), but had no issue by either wife. Falling into the hands of the Yorkists, after the battle of Towton, his lordship was beheaded at Newcastle, 1 May, 1461, when the earldom of Wiltshire expired. The earldom of Ormonde was also forfeited by the earl's brother and heir being at the battle of Towton, but EDWARD IV. restored him in blood, and so enabled him to succeed as

JOHN, 6th Earl of Ormonde. This nobleman was considered one of the first gentlemen of the age in which he lived; and EDWARD IV. is reported to have said, "that if good breeding and liberal qualities were lost in the world, they might be all found in the Earl of Ormonde." He was complete master of the languages of Europe, and was sent ambassador to its principal courts. He d. unm. 1478, in the Holy Land, having, in a fit of devotion, made a visit to Jerusalem, and was s. by his brother,

THOMAS, 7th Earl of Ormonde, who was also attainted, but restored by HENRY VII.'s first parliament, in Nov. 1485, and the statutes made at Westminster, 1 EDWARD IV., which declared him and his brothers traitors, were utterly abrogated. He was afterwards sworn of the privy council of England, and had summons to parliament, 14 Nov. 1495, as "Thomas Ormond de Rochford." He m. 1st, Anne, dau. and heir of Sir Richard Hankford, Knt., by Lady Anne Montacute, his wife, dau. of John, 3rd Earl of Salisbury, by whom he had two daus. and co-heiresses, who inherited the English estates, viz.,

I. ANNE, m. Sir James St. Leger, Knt. of Shipton, and had a son and heir, SIR GEORGE-ST. LEGER, of Annery.
II. MARGARET, m. Sir William Boleyn, Knt. of Blickling, co. Norfolk, K.B., by whom she had, THOMAS (Sir), K.G., who was created, 18 June, 1525, Viscount Rochford, and, 8 Dec. 1529, Earl of Wiltshire in the peerage of England. In 1527 he had been made Earl of Ormond in the peerage of Ireland. His lordship m. Lady Elizabeth Howard, dau. of Thomas, Duke of Norfolk, and had issue,

1 GEORGE BOLEYN, Lord Rochford, beheaded 17 May, 1536.

ct. 1610, who was installed a knight of the Garter, and ted, in 1642, MARQUESS OF ORMONDE. In 1643 he was inted Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, and during the t civil war administered that high office with con-mate ability. At the Restoration his fidelity and ent services were requited. In 1660 he had conferred im the titles of BARON BUTLER of Llanthony, and EARL BRECKNOCK, in the peerage of England, and in the wing year that of DUKE OF ORMONDE in Ireland. In he resumed the duties of Lord Lieutenant, which he rmed until 1669. Finally, in 1682, he was created an ish duke as DUKE OF ORMONDE. He m. 1629 his cousin,

Elizabeth, m. Philip, 2nd Earl of Chesterfield.

Mary, m. William Cavendish, 1st Duke of Devonshire, K.G.
duke, an eminent statesman, is known in history as he great Duke of Ormonde." He d. 21 July, 1688, and buried in Westminster Abbey. His grandson,

AMES, 2nd Duke of Ormonde, K.G., b. 29 April, 1665, herited the Scottish barony of Dingwall from his grand-ther. This nobleman was appointed lord of the bedmber in 1685 and, serving in the army, participated in victory over the Duke of Monmouth, at Sedgemoor.
was afterwards, however, one of the first to join standard of the Prince of Orange, and when that ace ascended the throne his grace obtained the ter, and was constituted HIGH-CONSTABLE OF ENGLAND
the coronation. He attended WILLIAM into Ireland, at the Boyne, and subsequently entertained his jesty most sumptuously at his castle in Kilkenny.
1693 he was at the battle of Landen, where he received eral wounds, and had a horse shot under him. In 2, his grace was constituted, by Queen ANNE, COM-NDER-IN-CHIEF of the land forces sent against France l Spain, when he destroyed the French fleet, sunk the anish galleons in the harbour of Vigo, and took the fort Redondella; for which important services he received thanks of both houses of parliament. In 1711 he was clared CAPTAIN-GENERAL and COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF of the d forces in Great Britain, or which were or should be ployed abroad in conjunction with the troops of the ies, which post he held till the treaty of Utrecht, in 1713, which year he was made warden of the Cinque Ports,
d constable of Dover Castle. But in two years afterwards EORGE I. having in the interim succeeded to the throne), grace was impeached (21 June, 1715) of high treason, d having retired into France, was attainted in Great itain, when his estates became forfeited, his (English) nours extinguished, and parliament passed an act which nulled the regalities and liberties of the county palatine of Tipperary, vested his lands in the crown, and proclaimed a reward of £10,000 for his apprehension should he attempt to land in Ireland. But the same parliament passed also an act (24 June, 1721) to enable the duke's brother, the Earl of Arran, to purchase the estate, which his lordship did accordingly. This great but unfortunate nobleman m. 1st, 15 July, 1682, Lady Anne Hyde, dau. of Laurence, Earl of Rochester, and had by her a dau., Mary, who d. 1688. His grace m. 2ndly, 3 Aug. 1685, Lady Mary Somerset, eldest surviving dau. of Henry, 1st Duke of Beaufort, and left two daus.,

ELIZABETH, d. unm. 20 April, 1750.

MARY, m. 1710, to John, 1st Earl of Ashburnham, and d. s. p. 1712.

The duke resided in his exile chiefly at Avignon. He had a pension from the court of Spain of 2,000 pistoles, and d. 16 Nov. 1745, when his remains were brought into England 22 May, 1748, and deposited in the family vault, in HENRY VII's chapel, Westminster Abbey. At this period it was supposed that the duke's honours were all forfeited under the act of attainder passed by the English parliament, but it was subsequently decided that no proceeding of the English legislature could affect Irish dignities. According to that decision, his grace's brother, the Earl of Arran, was

CHARLES, 14th Earl of Ormonde, and 3rd duke and marquess de jure; but his lordship never enjoyed, assumed, or was aware of possessing those dignities. He m. 18 Sept. 1721, Elizabeth, 4th and youngest dau. of Thomas, Lord Crewe of Stene, but by her (who d. 21 May, 1756) had no issue. He d. 17 Dec. 1758, when his own honours became extinct, with the marquessate and dukedom of Ormonde. The Scottish barony of Dingwall, and the barony of Butler, of Moore Park, passed to the heir-general, and the Irish earldoms of Ormonde and Ossory, with the viscounty of Thurles, supposed to have fallen under the English attainder, became dormant, but were really vested in John Butler, Esq. of Kilcash, the heir male of the family (see the descendants of Walter, 11th lord), as

JOHN, 15th Earl of Ormonde (de jure), but he did not assume the honours. He s. to the estates of the family upon the death of the Earl of Arran's only surviving sister. He m. April, 1763, Miss Bridget Stacey, of Oakingham, co. Berks, by whom, who m. 2ndly, 24 Oct. 1771, Rev. Alleyne Waller, LL.D., of the Hermitage, co. Surrey, he had no issue. He d. 24 June, 1766, when he was s. in his estates, and his right to the honours of his family, by his first cousin,

WALTER, 16th Earl of Ormonde (de jure), but he never assumed the titles. He was b. 10 June, 1703; and m. 19 Dec. 1732, Ellen, dau. of Nicholas Morres, Esq. of Lataragh, co. Tipperary, and grand-dau. of Sir John Morres, 7th bart. of Knockagh, by whom (who d. Jan. 1794) he had issue, JOHN, 17th earl, his heir, restored as hereafter.

Frances, m. Morgan Kavanagh, Esq. of Ballyhale, Kilkenny.
Susanna, m. Thomas Kavanagh, Esq. of Borris, co. Carlow.
Eleanor, "The Lady of Llangollen"

He d. 2 June, 1783, and was s. by his son, who was restored to his honours by a decision of the House of Lords in Ireland 1791 as

JOHN, 17th Earl of Ormonde, b. 10 Dec. 1740. His lordship m. 14 Feb. 1769, Lady Frances-Susan-Elizabeth Wandesforde, dau. and sole heir of John, Earl of Wandesforde, by Agnes-Elizabeth, his wife, dau. and heir of John Southwell, Esq. of Enniscouch, and by her (who d. 3 April, 1830) had issue,

I. WALTER, his successor.
